I dedicate this work to the eternal memory of the Armenian fallen brave soldiers and martyred heroes of the 44-day conspiratorial war.

The blood they shed was not in vain, because history has repeatedly shown us, that the blows of the whip on the backs of defeated peoples become an impetus for a new rebirth....

Preface

Every nation faces a fateful and turning point, and we believe that the Armenian Nation is experiencing the most critical time in its history today. Almost all current events show us that Armenia as a sovereign territory and a strong independent state, has never entered into the international anti-Aryan "New World Order" agenda. It has always been considered a hindrance in every way. We saw the indifference of the so called international community during the 44 day conspiratorial war in 2020, when Artsakh was left alone on the sacrificial altar of Pan-Turkism and Zionism. We understand clearly that the conspiracy against Artsakh was a direct conspiracy against the Armenian Statehood, the ultimate goal of which is the completion of the Armenian Genocide. That is the reason why, after breaking our back, they have set their eyes on our backbone Syunik, because they know that without Syunik, there will be no Armenia.

In addition to external threats, there are, of course, countless domestic problems, such as a corrupt governmental and banking system, a treacherous and anti-Armenian state, a temporarily disabled army, and more than a hundred parties and organizations that divide and confuse the Nation, most of which are filled with agents of foreign intelligence. Almost all are serving foreign or other hostile interests, and those who do not, make meaningless calls for unity without representing anything serious. Nowadays, all the major parties may appear to fight against each other on simple and trivial issues, but on important issues they almost always obey the masters of the same system. This causes the current shameful internal political chaos, due to which these parties and organizations do not inspire any trust among the masses of the public. To put it more bluntly, they instill disgust.

Every conscious person can clearly see that the current defiled political and social system, which dominates Armenia and the entire civilized world, cannot provide security, give meaning and bring happiness to its citizens. That is why we are sure that it will collapse like a house of cards. We must do whatever we can to ensure that our Nation and Fatherland are not harmed during that collapse.

Many people feel that we have no chance to become strong again and it is pointless to even try or do anything. This is followed by indifference and thoughts of emigration, which cause irreparable damage to our Fatherland. However, we believe that as long as the Armenian Nation is breathing, it can rise once again if there is a strong will to do so. Armenia has repeatedly shown the world with the strength of its will, that when it is united and relies only on itself, it becomes unconquerable.

If our dream is not just a vague ambition, if we are absolutely determined to make it a reality, then nothing can stop us. We understand that the soul of our race is temporarily dormant for now, but it won't be for long. The soul of the race will awaken sooner or later and make the whole world tremble in the process. We are sure that our late and great Commander Vazgen Sargsyan also believed in this when he said: "The 21st century will undoubtedly be ours."

The fruits from the seeds of all the suffering and chaos that we are reaping today were sown long ago. We realize that everything that has been done against us for centuries to keep us divided will have a strong reaction, because the third law of mechanics tells us that for every action there is an equal and opposite reaction.

That reaction to the division is the current itself, the directed movement of particles, which is the premise of order. Without the current, there can be no consolidation nor political and social consensus. No matter how much our enemies want to, they cannot divide us if there is a unifying ideological current among us. The massive flow of misinformation has brought confusion, division, and chaos in our society to its peak. Our Nation needs that unifying current now more than ever.

If the Nation's intelligentsia is ideologically set on the right path, the rest of the people will follow, automatically forging unity. The mission of the newly created Racialist movement, Hosank (meaning Current in English), is to set the Nation on the right path by preaching the truth and acting in accordance with the truth. If we do not have the same will as a Nation, we cannot create the current that is necessary for our Nation's unity. In our struggle, our will must be the expression of the collective will of our Nation. Therefore, one of our main slogans is "One Nation, One State, One Will".

We see the growing instability in the world, which gives off a bad vibe and further exacerbates our struggle for unity. By observing this, we believe that a new era will open for humanity, especially for the Aryan race, and that is the reason for writing a new political program, a new manifesto, which is completely different in its content and essence from all other political programs in Armenia, and Hosank, in its content and essence, from other political movements. Hosank was not carelessly founded for a temporary purpose in order to come to power by deceiving its compatriots and giving them false hopes, as we see with so many short-sighted and ideologically empty political organizations. Nor was it founded with the intention of making irrelevant and worthless patriotic statements while waving a bunch of flags. Hosank was founded with the far-sighted goal and vision to be able to present and advance new ideas in Armenia for the coming new era. Those ideas are presented in this Manifesto in an axiomatic form, with Euclidean logic and order.

The following fifteen points are the pillars on which the future powerful and victorious Armenian State should be built. All pillars complement each other and one pillar without the other cannot hold the structure upright. The ideological foundation must be firmly built and the vision clear as water for the movement to become unconquerable.

Independent Statehood

Armenia's sovereignty and independence must be preserved at all costs. We must never compromise this by becoming a colony or just some transit country for a superpower. Our goal is the consolidation of the Armenian Nation into a powerful Armenian State, which in the future will include the entirety of Artsakh and all our other historical lands. However, the preservation of our independent Statehood is not so much a goal, as it is the best means by which we can guarantee the continued existence and development of our Nation and Fatherland.

Independence is sacred for us, and statehood is a supreme value, a link that connects the nation with its fatherland. The state is a vessel, the content of which is the nation, and this vessel can have meaning if it can preserve and protect the material inside it. Therefore, the state is obliged to serve the nation and advance the interests of the fatherland. Here lies our holy trinity: "Nation, Fatherland, State".

When we examine the pages of Armenian history, one thing becomes clear to us, that the entire history of our Nation is a struggle to gain and maintain an independent statehood. In fact, this is the history of all nations, but it seems that it is more obvious in our case, because we are one of the oldest nations in the world and have lost and regained our independent Statehood many times. We shed a lot of blood in losing that independence, but we shed even more blood in regaining it. In general, the tree of independence of every nation is watered with the blood of its heroes and its enemies.

There are more than 7000 different nationalities in the world, which are incessantly fighting to have a handful of land and build an independent state on that land. The world operates on the principle of "one blood, one soil". It means that in this world there is no more important resource than land, and only the strong deserve to have land, especially a heavenly and fertile land such as our highlands. The sooner we realize this axiomatic truth, the better it will be for us and our future generations.

We are currently standing on the brink of losing our independence, and we must find the strength within ourselves to fight decisively against all the forces that have brought us to this brink.

If there are people who naively think that if Armenia gives up its independence and joins some globalist union, we will allegedly "live better" and "be safer", then they are terribly mistaken. In this humiliated situation of ours, the hostile propaganda from outside and inside the Fatherland wants to convince us and instill in us that it is pointless to fight, and we have to immediately accept the "inevitable". They want to break the fighting spirit within us, which has largely succeeded among the weak minds of our society, to willingly concede in handing over our independent Statehood on a silver platter to some superpower.

This will only make our matters worse, because surrendering will only lead to more problems later on. We will lose our dignity, honor and self-respect, after which we will be used invariably by all other nations. He who gives up his independence and freedom for a supposedly better and safer life does not deserve either the first or the second, and in fact will not have either of them. Put more mundanely, when people choose between a piece of bread and freedom, they end up losing both.

However, there are still wise, honorable and freedom-loving Armenians in our Nation, for whom independent statehood is sacred, and they are deeply aware of its value. We have not lived for five thousand years, fought and shed blood against the hordes of unworthy invaders, so that a Turkish-loving anti-Armenian cult could come like a Trojan horse and destroy our country from within by turning the last page of our history. Our history is proof of the universal law that a nation which does not want to die, does not die.

Being a powerful state in the past proves that we have embedded in our genes the potential to become powerful once again, we just need to tap into that power within us. The blood of Hayk Nahapet, Argishti, Tigran the Great, King Pap, Ashot Yerkat, Davit Bek, Andranik and Monte Melkonyan still flows in our veins. The feats performed by all the heroes of the Armenian Nation inspire and encourage us to continue their work for the sake of our future generations. Therefore, we have no right to fail.

In this modern age, there are very few countries that are completely independent, because globalization has connected many countries together. We have been de jure independent for thirty years, but we must make that de jure independence into de facto independence by strengthening our sovereignty. From our sovereignty will come our independence, and from our independence will finally come our freedom. The freedom where we will be builders and masters of our own destiny.

Therefore, all kinds of propaganda, that are a threat to our independence should be banned and those who spread such propaganda should be put on trial for treason. Through our work and sacrifices, we need to instill faith in our citizens that we can not only keep our independence, but we can also strengthen it by building a powerful state, if we truly fight for that goal with all our might. If we do not sacrifice for this goal, then this goal will become the sacrifice due to our incompetence.

There is no higher value for any nation than land and independent statehood. Without land and a state, a nation cannot dictate its will in this world, therefore it is not possible for a nationalist to not be a patriot, just as it is not possible for a patriot to not be a nationalist. For us any inch of land cannot be exchanged for even tons of gold. Every citizen should genuinely realize that his home is not limited by his four walls, but by the borders of his or her Fatherland, and every tree, river, mountain or lake is a part of his home.

Only with this awareness will the citizen know that his home begins at every post on the border, and he is obligated to protect that post as he would his own home. In this way, it is possible to destroy the disastrous and divisive provincial patriotism in our Nation and raise a pro-state minded generation.

We must preserve our independent statehood like the apple of our eye, because if we lose it this time, we will lose it forever and will have no chance to restore it again. Therefore, our pro-state slogan is "For the sake of Statehood, in the name of Nzhdeh".

Pillar 2

Citizenship and National Preservation

The fundamental wealth for an independent state is a decent citizen who has a great sense of personal responsibility towards his or her state. Every citizen is also a part and representative of the state, therefore, only those with Armenian-Aryan blood can be a full citizen of the Armenian State. The correct procedure for granting citizenship is extremely important and is the basis of Armenian national preservation, because it determines the level of purity of our blood, which in turn determines the demographics of our Fatherland. Therefore, one of our slogans is "Armenia for Armenians", that is, the vast majority of Armenia will consist of Armenians, and the Statehood of Armenia will primarily serve the interests of the Armenian Nation. This does not mean at all that there will be hostility towards the integrated minorities living in Armenia, such as the Kurds or Yezidis living in Armenian society. They will continue to be full citizens of Armenia. We respect and support other White (European/Aryan) minorities living in Armenia. They can continue to live in Armenia and become citizens if they swear allegiance to Armenia and the Armenian State, thereby making their service in the Armenian Armed Forces mandatory for obtaining citizenship. However, non-Whites can only come to Armenia as temporary guests and follow the laws set for foreigners. Exceptional non-Whites who have greatly benefited our State or acted heroically for our Fatherland will become honorary citizens and will have the right to live in Armenia with their families. Those who were not born in Armenia, but meet all these qualifications, must have lived in Armenia for at least five years before receiving citizenship.

Every state that is concerned about the future of its nation must think about the demographics of its country and is obliged to protect its borders not only from a militaristic point of view, but also from a civilian point of view. We are against not only the Turkification of Armenia, but also the defilement of Armenia by various types of non-White races. Therefore, the flow of all non-White immigrants into Armenia must be halted immediately, and those who are already living in Armenia must be peacefully and humanely deported from our Fatherland. This will not only benefit our country, but also the countries of these immigrants, because due to this emigration, doctors, scientists and other professionals leave the countries that are desperately in need of such professionals. Unfortunately, after 1945, the study of races has become taboo throughout the Aryan world, resulting in confusion among many regarding racial matters. Therefore we cannot go into much detail at this time and that's why we use the words "Aryan" and "White" interchangeably so that people understand the sameness of those words. In any case, in the future, we will have a science, with which we will be able to racially assess each potential citizen, so that equitable laws will be established and become the basis for matters of citizenship.

Those who open the flood gates for non-White immigrants should be severely prosecuted and punished. The law will prohibit mixed marriages between Whites and non-Whites. The law will also prosecute and punish those who promote multiculturalism and mixed marriages, which we openly oppose, because they destroy the diversity that exists in nature.

We are guided by the principle that good borders create good neighbors, and everyone should keep their own home. We strongly believe that each of us can serve humanity by first serving our Nation, and we condemn the false humanitarianism promoting "equality". In general, we find the concept of "equality" ridiculous, because there is no equality in the world and in nature. Propagation of such false ideas is only to deceive and mislead people.

We have neither intention nor desire to turn Armenia into a Babylon. We do not need a slave class disguised as cheap labor. By rolling up our sleeves we will get to work and build our country by our own efforts. We must clean our own sewers, take out our own trash, build our own buildings, drive our own trucks, pave our own roads, and cultivate our own land without depending on other nations. If we do not do so, we will enslave ourselves in the future by becoming dependent on non-Whites. With our own strength, we will build our country as if we were building and remodeling our own castles.

The preservation of blood purity is important to us because when a higher race mixes with a lower race, the result is that the higher race descends to the level of the lower race, thereby losing the powerful qualities of the higher race. The number one cause of the destruction of cultures and civilizations in history has not been wars, but the mixing of races, followed by the degradation of society.

Humanity is divided into a few races, the most beautiful, the most powerful, the most creative of which is the White race (Jews are not considered to be a part of the White/Aryan race), whose scientific name is Armenoid (and not the artificial name "Caucasoid"). The Aryan race has from the very beginning consisted of brilliant scientists, explorers, warriors, artists, architects, builders, philosophers and conquerors. The cultures and civilizations created by all other races are incomparable with the high culture and civilization of the Aryan race.

Our Armenian Nation belongs to this White race, which is a minority among all other races, and according to statistics, it is currently the most endangered race on Earth. Statistics show that if the current trends continue, Whites will be a minority in their own countries within the next 20 years. This is simply a shocking fact that should be taken very seriously. There are almost 8 billion people in the world, and of those 8 billion, only 500 million are White, and that number is decreasing due to low birth rates and intermarriages. In contrast, the number of non-Whites is increasing globally, and increasing in many White countries as well, which advances the destructive phenomena of miscegenation. In short, this is disastrous not only for the White race, but also for humanity, because if the torch of the White race is extinguished, humanity will suffer greatly and the world will be plunged into darkness forever. We simply cannot allow this to happen, therefore, this is an issue on which we absolutely cannot compromise. The Aryan race is the leading race of mankind's progress, and we Armenians as the root Nation of that leading race, have a great responsibility in keeping the Aryan blood pure and preventing the destruction of the Aryan race.

In addition to decreased birth rates, the genetic quality of our fellow kinsman has also declined, which has negatively impacted our civilization. Therefore, the basis of national preservation is also to improve the genetic quality of our Nation. We cannot ignore this crucial step because, unfortunately, over the centuries, as a result of not having a state and by interacting with many different types of non-White races, our genetic health has greatly deteriorated, and we believe that this statement should not come as a surprise to any decent Armenian when he or she sees the degree of degradation in our society. Another reason for the degradation of the Aryan nations is, of course, the international Zionist media, which has been infecting our society with various ideological poisons for at least a hundred years, including: feminism and multiculturalism, which have contributed to the reduction of the exemplary elements of our Nation and at the same time increased the role of negative influences.

An exceptionally comfortable and unnatural lifestyle has made millions of people complacent and timid. In the ancient world, when humans lived closer to the harsh conditions of nature, nature performed natural selection. In this modern age we have become disconnected from nature and its natural selection process. In short, we have gone against nature's process of natural selection for centuries, and now we are suffering because of it. Direct and scientific intervention are the only way to correct this. If we can breed higher quality animals, why not do the same for humans?

It has already been mentioned how we can prevent the final demographic collapse, but the continuous deterioration of genetic quality in this modern age can be stopped and corrected by applying the principles of eugenics (or racial hygiene), which is simply controlled breeding of the population, and in our case, naturally, this control will help by improving the quality of the Nation. For example, the most genetically qualified and healthy couples should, in every way possible, be supported and encouraged to have many children, while discouraging unhealthy couples. Large families of healthy couples should receive substantial incentives from the State. Abortions should also be condemned and prohibited for healthy couples.

The National State Media should glorify and the State should reward those healthy couples who have more than four children. Along with this, in extreme cases, mentally ill and physically disabled people should be sterilized, if it is found from specialist doctors that their serious illness is hereditary, preventing them from passing on their bad genetics to the next generations. In this extreme case, that person will continue to live normally, have relationships and even get married, but not be able to have children. People should realize that having a child is not a right, but a privilege. There will be people who will consider this approach extreme, but we think it is extreme, selfish and irresponsible to let genetically unhealthy people reproduce, so their children suffer from those same defects. With eugenics we will keep our blood free of racially inferior individuals and undesirables as much as humanely possible.

Thus, with this approach we can greatly improve our genetic quality in just a few generations, and by making such principles the law, instead of having a racial crisis like we have today, we will have a quality Nation full of large and healthy families. Without strong and healthy families, there cannot be a strong and healthy society, because the family is the nucleus of any society. This will undeniably guarantee our existence and expansion.

No healthy society can, by violating the laws of nature, be multicultural. A healthy society can only be homogeneous, whose citizens have more or less the same language, the same history, the same culture, the same value system and the same genetics. Only by living in a homogenous society will the individual love his society and feel that he is connected to something greater, feeling a sense of responsibility towards that society. Homogeneous societies have a lot more love, peace and solidarity than multicultural societies.

Multiculturalism and the danger of non-White immigration may not be a big threat to our Fatherland at the moment, as it is, for example, in Europe, the USA, and Australia, but we must learn from their mistakes and neutralize the threat from its inception. If we tolerate the immigration of non-Whites to Armenia now, tomorrow we will tolerate the immigration of non-White Turks, contributing to the Turkification of Armenia.

The State must ensure and promote the growth of the birth rate, but a growth that will effect society as a whole in a positive way. Without the application of such racial principles, Aryan civilization will face defilement of the blood and demographic destruction, which must be prevented at all costs. If our enemies kill us by the thousands, destroy our cities and occupy our lands, we can give birth to new generations, rebuild the cities and liberate our lands again, but we cannot cleanse the defiled blood. If the blood is contaminated by mixing with other races, it cannot be purified again.

We can have an Aryan, decent and high quality state only if we have Aryan, decent and high quality citizens. This will happen only when the State guarantees with its laws that its best children will multiply and develop, thus becoming worthy citizens of the Fatherland.

Pillar 3

Spiritual Worldview

Any political movement must have a strong ideology and spiritual worldview in order to succeed and have long-term positive results. We believe that Racialism is exactly that ideology, of which we are the unconditional bearers and believers of. The political movement that has only material foundations and is devoid of spirituality is condemned to fail, because our, so to speak, material reality derives from our inner spiritual world. We also believe that the unity and solidarity of our Nation can only be cemented by the ideas of Racialism.

If we want to really solve the problems of our Fatherland, we must first understand them in depth, not only in the political arena, but in our entire society. Political problems are only a reflection of problems in our spiritual world and in society as a whole. That is the reason that every political movement that wants to unite the Nation must first of all have a spiritual nature and foundation, based on exact sciences.

For centuries, enmity has been artificially instilled between scientists and clergymen or monks, but we do not think that spirituality and science are mutually exclusive. On the contrary - we believe that they are very naturally compatible. We also believe that instead of contradicting, creation and evolution complement each other as well. In other words, the Creator created the races of mankind and various animals, which experienced significant changes over time. It should be noted here that a spiritual man is not defined by a man who only recites prayers and performs rituals. A spiritual man is a person with a very high consciousness who has tamed the ego and has deeply understood the meaning of life.

Having a deep faith that is based on truth is extremely important, because we create our reality with the thoughts that come from our inner beliefs, because reality is a combination of the objective and subjective. There are objective facts that cannot be changed, such as historical events for example, but we can create a new history with our subjective beliefs and actions, which can be either positive or negative, depending on what our inner beliefs are. We cannot succeed in our struggle if we do not have a profound faith in our race, nature and the Universe.

It is downright despicable that in our political field pro-Western liberals, pro-Soviet communists, and other such agitators come out with nationalistic "fur" to deceive, mislead and divert the people from the truth and true nationalism. They also mislead them from true racial values derived from spiritual values. If real scientists and spiritual people were involved in politics, there would not be so many ignorant and soulless people in our society.

Fortunately, our heroic ancestors, in the form of Nzhdeh and Hayk Asatryan, founded the ideology of Racialism for us, the creed of blood and soil, which is the spiritual foundation that our Nation lacks, the medicine for our diseases and the compass for our worldview. Racialism, put simply, is the application of the laws of nature in society. Therefore, we are obliged to bring their ideas back to life by turning them into a fighting movement that will take over the State, leading it to the final victory.

We know very well from history that when Armenia became the first Christian state, our ancient Aryan and Pagan culture suffered a lot of damage, and because of that, the Dark Ages of the so called Inquisition reigned in the Aryan world for a thousand years. Regardless, we consider it wrong to sow enmity towards Christianity and the Church, because we are against dividing the Nation by classes, ideologies and religions, which can then become the basis of a civil war. We believe that the Christianity that was wrapped around our necks at the beginning of the fourth century was not the same Christianity that was preached by, according to Nzhdeh, the Nazarene, who we believe was an Aryan. His true Aryan teachings based on universal laws were deliberately distorted, then instilled first in our Nation and then into the whole Aryan race in order to weaken our civilization. That is why we think that Christianity and the church in general should be Aryanized and at least reformed. We have no doubt that Aryan Christianity and paganism will not at all contradict the world view of Racialism. We believe that Vahagn and all the other gods of our mythology are just expressions of the different qualities of nature, i.e different representatives of the Creator. When we look at it from this point of view of Racialism, we will see that Christians and Pagans can harmoniously cooperate with each other for the sake of the Nation and the Fatherland.

All the widespread religions of today - Christianity, Islam, Hinduism and Buddhism, do not talk about blood and soil at all, and are intended for all people, unlike, for example, Judaism, which is intended only for the Jews. A religion that does not talk about the importance of nationality and having a fatherland cannot benefit our Nation and the Fatherland. Racialism is also a cosmic religion, but unlike the above-mentioned four great religions, it does not preach false universal values, where the importance of races is neglected, but it preaches the acceptance of racial values for each race, while supporting the universal values that encompass all races.

We are against atheism, but our idea of God is different from what is presented to us by many mainstream religions. For us, God is not some merciless entity sitting on a throne punishing people driven by whim or vengeance, like the Old Testament Jehovah of the Jews. In our understanding, God, or rather, the Creator, is the infinite consciousness, the soul of the Universe, and our soul is a tiny part of that cosmic consciousness. The Creator is the cosmic life force by which creation takes place every instant. In reality, the Creator is awake in all beings in the world, human and animal alike. Thus, we can consider that we ourselves are the manifestations of the Creator, and the godlike Aryan race is the most perfect manifestation of the Creator, the true masterpiece of nature.

We are not a body that has a soul but rather a soul that has a body, and it is the soul's desire in each of us to connect our own life, which is nothing but a moment in the eternal lifespan of the Universe, to something greater than ourselves. The super-saturated and comfortable life of the modern world has cut people off from that very important idea. We all want to live a good and comfortable life, but it is far more important to live a meaningful, productive and extraordinary life, because, as Nzhdeh once said - there is nothing more sickening than a purposeless existence. From that aimless existence arises the abominable alienation, hedonism, nihilism, atheism and materialism, which leads to drug addiction, gambling, and other such vices. The enemy of all these vices is our spiritual worldview of Racialism. Therefore, we believe that the purpose of life is to devotedly fight with all your might for a noble idea and mission and enjoy that fight, because the key to true happiness can be found in the journey and not the destination.

Just as a tree cannot exist without roots, a man cannot either, and because man differs significantly from animals in complexity and a higher level of consciousness, he is able to realize the existence and significance of his roots, strengthened by his ancestors through many generations. In nature, the trees that have the deepest and strongest roots have the most resistance to strong winds, which contribute to the growth of the tree. The same can be said about the races of humanity: the longer and stronger the race fights against the "winds", the deeper and stronger its roots become, and consequently, becomes stronger and more powerful. In short, comfort breeds weakness and struggle breeds greatness.

Yes, we prefer to live a spiritual life as much as possible and we reject materialism, being well aware that consumerism and the senseless accumulation of material possessions cannot bring any lasting joy in our lives, but naturally we cannot reject the material world, because, so to speak, we live in a material reality, and for the sake of the race, acquiring material resources should be one of the most important tasks in our lives. In other words, we do not consider it materialism if material acquisitions and becoming wealthy are a means for us and never an end in itself. Almost without exception, all individuals and nations seek power in this world by acquiring various types of resources to dictate events according to their will, and we should be no exception either.

In this material world, all of us can benefit the Fatherland in some way. Instead of being spectators, we can all be participants in the historical process: whether we are a teacher or a policeman, a worker or a writer or a mother of many children, all of us, by investing our time and energy, can develop our country, our civilization, and contribute to our eternal race. Evil is able to win and wreak havoc only because good and decent people remain spectators and do not take action.

Only by serving the eternal and lasting race with our unique and transitory life can we become immortal. That is the key and the only way to immortality. Therefore, for the progress of the race, we must live very effectively, because we can't take anything with us to the afterlife; we can only leave something behind and what we leave behind should be the great work we do for the future generations of our race. That great work can only be virtuous and noble work. Every person is the accumulation of all his ancestors and the entire past of his or her Nation is concentrated in their genes. With our fathers we look to the past and with our sons we look towards the future. It is our duty to improve, develop and pass on to our sons everything that has been passed down to us from our fathers. This wonderful gift of life must be cherished and used for such a righteous cause. With this kind of mentality towards life, instead of only momentary short term gratifications, we will have long-term satisfaction, and that is what we all truly crave.

Most importantly, we reject defeatism, weakness, and feeble-mindedness that have kept our nation in chains for centuries. We also reject lying and understand that speaking the truth and acting truthfully have truly become revolutionary actions in this age of lies. It is far more important for us to be correct than to be politically correct, because for us, loyalty to the truth is a virtue, and to speak the truth is a weapon that frightens our enemies. As already mentioned, we have reached the most dire time in our history, the danger of the final loss of statehood and the destruction of our race. We must do everything, use every means necessary, to raise our Nation and save the Fatherland, while not giving a damn of the opinions of those who want to destroy Armenia or keep her subdued.

For us, the love for our Nation is the most inspiring, but we understand that the ability to hate was given to us by the Creator for a reason. Love is the driving force for us and the most important emotion in this world, but without the deadly hatred of that which threatens all that we love, love is really an empty word and catch phrase for cowards. However, we should not allow that hatred and anger to blind us and destroy us. We should use it as fuel to achieve the right goal, like we use a stove to heat a house instead of setting it on fire. No matter how hard and complicated our situation is, we must think positively and look at all negative events in a positive light as much as possible.

In any case, we reject evil, considering it an unnatural phenomenon that deviates from creation and the natural world. It is appalling, but nevertheless a fact, that in our times it is not the widespread evil that is so terrifying, but the fact that we not only tolerate evil, but with our naivety, short-sightedness and cowardice we also protect and even worship such evil. The more we tolerate, protect and worship that evil, the more we become evil ourselves. Therefore, injustice and evil must be punished at all costs, because if left unpunished, injustice and evil will continue to spread relentlessly without end. From this follows one of the most important of our moral principles: we can forgive our hated and mortal enemies only after punishing them.

Hosank's mission is more than just spreading a new tribal ideology in Armenia or preaching a new Aryan religion. Our mission is the awakening of the dormant Aryan spirit in the Armenian Nation, and the foundation of a new Aryan Holy Order in Armenia, which will be the spiritual pillar of our State. Our struggle should give birth to warrior monks, who will be ready to fight and sacrifice their lives for the sake of a greater idea.

All our former heroes have understood the undeniable truth that we are only guests in this life. Therefore, the most any man can ask for is a heroic passage through life. Through the events of history, the Creator gives us the opportunity to go through that heroic path in these dire times, and we should be grateful for that. Not every person or nation is given that honor. If we show courage to take that heroic path in order to save our statehood and civilization, then we will prove to the Creator that we deserve to live and multiply in the world created by him. The path has been shown to us, but it is up to us whether we decide to walk through it or not. As conscious adults we should accept the responsibility to walk through that path for the sake of our ancestors and for the sake of our future generations.

Our long-range approach is necessary, absolutely necessary and inevitable. Having a spiritual foundation is vital for our political struggle. The short-sighted approaches that other patriots have tried for decades before us, such as changing the government or eliminating bribery, cannot solve the fundamental problems with which we are faced. Those approaches cannot give us back our souls. It may seem ironic that we should plan to conquer and transform not only our country but the entire world, that we should plan for the sake of cosmic truths and eternity, when those with much more resources than us have failed to succeed in much more limited goals, such as removing traitors from the government or raising wages, but it is this simple-mindedness and short-sightedness of those working for these limited ends that have been the reasons for their failure.

It is the rooting of our plans in eternity that gives us confidence and hope for ultimate success, no matter how much time, work, and sacrifice it may require of us. Acting for the sake of eternity, we ourselves become a part of that eternity. Therefore, I insist again that our approach is not only a matter of choice, it is an absolute necessity.

There is no other way but ours, there is only one path, the eternal and victorious path, which is the path of "Hosank". That path is the Aryan creative path, which we must walk through with our formidable will. No one else, no other race can cross that path for us. Only we can go through that path with the devotion of our whole spirit if we want to reach the destiny that the Creator has prepared for us. A glorious and unlimited destiny that even we cannot imagine at this moment.

This, of course, is a very heavy and enormous responsibility, and if we were only mortal beings living for the present we could not bear it, but we know that we can and will bear it, because we know we are more than just mere mortals. We know this, because we carry the banner of eternity and act for the sake of eternity.

Energy will spread from the Armenian highlands that will destroy the obstacles of spiritual development on this Earth. That energy will be spread by those individuals of unbreakable determination who will be inspired by the examples of our great ancestors.

The world, especially the Aryan race, has been in a new kind of inquisition since 1945, where the truth is being destroyed day by day, the truth-tellers are being persecuted more and more, and all spiritual values are being defiled under the guise of justice and equality. However, a new racial consciousness and faith is awakening: the belief that to protect the blood is to protect the divine essence of man in general. Anointed with racial values, the new Armenian of the future will be significantly different from the current Armenian: he will be the AR-man, imbued with superhuman abilities, in whose hand will be the fiery torch to lead humanity out of darkness.

No matter how much the enemies of humanity try to bury our racial values and the Aryan awakening, they will not succeed, because they will not be able to stop the Aryan tide waiting on the horizon and the eternal current of the race – Hosank, endowed with the wisdom of Tir and the power of Vahagn. Garegin Nzhdeh had a dream, and we are that dream.

Pillar 4

Form of Government

In the Racialist State that we envision, we must simultaneously have such a system of governance that will keep our Nation free from the threats of tyranny and mob rule, but at the same time be firm and capable to manage the State properly. Therefore, we propose a new system of government – Arkayapetutyun, which essentially means a state consisting of arkas (leaders) and their supreme leader – Arka, which can evidently be considered a combination of a meritocracy and constitutional monarchy. The Arka will be elected by the minority of citizens who have the privilege to participate in the elections, and the Arka can also appoint his arkas who have leadership skills from the National Assembly, where, instead of numerous political parties, there will be independent senators who will represent the different classes and professions of our society. Everyone, from the common citizen to the Arka, must obey the laws of the National Constitution that will solely be in the interests of the Fatherland.

We are certain that millions of decent people around the world see what a monster this fraudulent and nation wrecking form of government called democracy has turned into. The democracy that we have today is run by media bosses and bankers, and is supported by their puppets. The current democracy is diametrically different from the democracy that existed in ancient Greece. We cannot expect a system that worked well two and a half thousand years ago under completely different conditions can operate with similar success today. In our times, democracy has simply become a nuisance and a curse for our whole race.

Democracy, which has turned into mob rule, is a disguised tyranny that only creates the illusion of people's freedom and choices. In this corrupt system, the candidates for the country's leaders are not decent patriots who care about the Nation, but deceitful scoundrels from different political camps who are sponsored mainly by foreign agencies through the media and financial system. These puppets are specifically chosen and then the fate of the country is placed in the hands of the ignorant and the cowards of society. They are the ones who choose which one of those puppets will rule their country to the detriment of the Fatherland and in favor of anti-national forces.

In general, all throughout history, it is often the minority that made the right decisions, not the majority. The majority made frequent fatal mistakes. Therefore, this democratic system is the best way to bring the worst people to power. In such a system, the Nation will always be divided and degraded, because that is its whole purpose.

In the last century, hostile international forces incited two world wars in order to destroy dictatorships and monarchies in Europe and to wrap democracy, or rather, democratic dictatorship, around the necks of Europeans. This democratic dictatorship has turned the political life of our country into a circus, as a result of which our government has been filled from top to bottom with all kinds of traitors, and the same, of course, can be said about all the other democratic dictatorships. The phenomenon of dishonorable flattery is rampant in this circus, where politicians pander left and right for money or to advance their own interests. All this has contributed to the degradation of the Armenian political process. That is the reason why people now compare politics with immorality. This is not a coincidence at all, but rather a systematic conspiracy to keep our governance system and country crippled.

A democratic dictatorship pollutes and poisons the "immune system" of our country, as a result of which we can easily get infected with various "viruses". In this modern information age, that democratic dictatorship is not only a lie and a sham, but also an unmitigated disaster that is leading our entire race and civilization into complete and final oblivion.

Thus, by taking all this into account, we prefer Arkayapetutyun, which will be a State not only consisting of dignified and intelligent people, but also those who have leadership skills – arkas; and not merely state officials appointed by outside powers for their own nefarious gains to only sign papers and pass laws. Any sphere of the State administration must have its arka (leader/minister), and according to hierarchical principles, these arkas must be subordinate to the Arka, the supreme leader of the State and Armed Forces. The Arka and arkas can only be men, because politics, we believe, is a male domain.

Elections will be established to elect an Arka, but not everyone will have the right to participate in the elections, because participating in the elections should be considered a privilege and not a right. We cannot allow every two-legged featherless biped to participate in the elections and decide the fate of our country. In order to have the privilege to participate in the elections, a citizen will complete a series of different tests to determine the citizen's health, judgment, logic and intelligence, and even after all that, the vote of all citizens will not be considered equal. We do not consider it fair that an officer who serves the Nation, for example, has the same score in the elections as the good-for-nothing couch potato who has not made any significant contribution to society.

Even after the elections, we are against the idea that the elected Arka shall remain in power for only 4 or 5 years until the new elections, because that is not enough time to make drastic changes in the country. We believe that it should be decided by the electorate that was given that privilege. If the Arka and his government are able to manage the country correctly, and he is able to maintain his health, we think that there will be no point in changing it. We are against giving too many restrictions to the Arka, because our movement is authoritarian, but not tyrannical. The Nation should feel that it has a "father", whom it can treat with reverence, rather than looking at the head of State as another transient official who will be here today and gone tomorrow.

An authoritarian State is needed to ensure order in the country. We cannot play democratic games when we are surrounded by enemies who are bloodthirsty military tyrants. Without an authoritarian form of government, for example, a constitutional republic will turn into the current democratic dictatorship, which we must avoid at all costs. The Arka should be the highest representative of our Nation and Statehood in our country and in the international arena, and from a spiritual point of view, the messenger of the Creator.

We do not believe that the title and office of the Arka should be hereditary like kingdoms or monarchies, because history has often shown us that the son of a king has not always been the right leader for a given country. The inheritance of power is primitive, unreliable and selfish, and it should not be inherited, but earned through work and struggle. This, of course, should not be confused with inheritance rights, where citizens will naturally have the right to inherit the wealth and property of their fathers or grandfathers.

We believe that there should be an Arka - the supreme leader, who governs the Fatherland, but he should also be subject to the laws of a National Constitution, which will exclusively be in the interests of the Fatherland and will be written when we come to power. Everyone should be equal before the law, from the most ordinary citizen to the Arka himself. The need for multiple parties that divide the Nation will be removed from our country, and of course, there will be no more shameful parliamentary chaos like we see today. The independent senators of the National Assembly will raise various issues in their respective fields. It is from there that the Arka will appoint his arkas (ministers). They will be the highest specialists in their fields or people with extensive experience who have benefited society with their work. The National Assembly will also have the power to impeach the Arka if needed.

The Arka and the arkas in government cannot be dual citizens, and if they already are dual citizens, they must renounce the citizenship of the other country. Their family members (wife, children) cannot live outside of Armenia, and they must not have any kind of wealth (houses, mansions, etc.) outside the Fatherland. We consider this logical: where a person's family and wealth are, there will also be his mind and soul, and it will be very easy for foreign powers to use this weakness to the detriment of our State through espionage and blackmail.

This Arkayapetakan system is almost entirely consistent with the laws of nature, for those who have earned the privilege to receive those titles by their path and work will become arka's and the Arka. Thus we will have a government of action instead of a government of empty words and false promises. We will have a government that will truly promote national interests, not foreign or hostile ones. The people can only respect, trust, love and ultimately follow a State consisting of actual leaders-arkas.

We are supporters of free speech, but that right should not be exploited to be used against our Nation, Fatherland and the State, and obvious red lines should not be crossed. We oppose the current widespread "hate speech" laws aimed at suppressing true speech. The truth is considered "hate speech" by all those who hate the truth. Laws are being created to criminalize the act of speaking the truth, but in the society which we envision, any speech and propaganda against the Armenian Nation will be criminalized. Positive and objective criticism of the government should be welcomed, but it should not be abused to the extent that the criticism is an end in itself and not constructive. All those who have ever carried out anti-Armenian, anti-Aryan and other similar hostile propaganda or have been financed by such forces in the form of grants or in other ways, will not only be deprived of the privilege to participate in elections and the sessions of the National Assembly, but also will be deprived of the right to participate in politics or other public activities. In extreme cases, they can be arrested or deprived of their citizenship.

The National Security Service will take on the mission of catching these agents and bringing them to justice. Those trials will be conducted by the Armenian National Court, which will consist only of expert lawyers with years of relevant experience, and they will only be allowed to become judges, not careerist and opportunistic politicians. When the financial flow from foreign hostile forces to our Fatherland ceases, the confusion and chaos in our political arena, which is rampant in our country today, will also cease to exist. This does not mean at all that an Orwellian surveillance system will prevail, where the state will monitor every step and action of a person. On the contrary, the personal privacy of citizens will be preserved and respected, and in the society we envision, people will enjoy more freedom than, say, in "free democracies". Armenia can also be a refuge for other Aryan political activists who have been persecuted in different countries for speaking the truth.

We believe that those criminals who have committed sadistic and excessive cruelties against other citizens, especially children and animals, should be put to death. Those who have committed major treason against the Nation, Fatherland and State should also be put to death. If the National Court can prove these crimes without any doubt, these criminals will receive the most severe punishment: they will be deprived of the right to live.

But for minor crimes, there will be improved rehabilitation centers for inmates, with the ultimate goal of restorative justice, to reform these offenders into decent citizens and productive members of society. One form of such rehabilitative methods would be for inmates supervised by guards to engage in various construction jobs and also cleaning up littered areas in nature. We understand that the increase in crime is one of the symptoms of the destruction of our society. It is also a sign that something is very wrong in our governance and political-economic system. These are some of the symptoms of the general disease of our civilization, but if we want to cure a disease, we must fight against the cause of that disease and not against the symptoms. In other words, we need to solve the main problem that causes this common disease, instead of masking the symptoms. Only then will we be able to reduce the crime rate and eliminate all other symptoms of social disease.

Supporters of democratic dictatorship will hypocritically consider our proposed form of government "tyrannical", but we should not pay attention to their nonsense. There will be different states that will make the same accusations against us and comically propose to teach us lessons of justice, freedom and the importance of peace, but none of them have the right to preach justice, freedom and peace to us, because Armenian history has proven to everyone that there are no people more just, freedom-loving and peace-loving than the Armenian Nation, that has fought against countless tyrants and tyrannies all throughout history.

Pillar 5

Banking and Financial System

The economy is the indicator of the country's industriousness and nation's productivity, and is directly related to the banking and financial system operating in the country. It is impossible to have a stable and developing economy if we have a corrupt banking and financial system, like we have today. Therefore, we condemn the usurious banking and financial system robbing the Fatherland, due to which the international financial hyenas, like parasites, are slowly draining our country and keeping our State and citizens drowning in debt. Therefore, usury should be prohibited by the Constitution, and those involved in usury should be severely punished. The Armenian National State Bank should be established and controlled by the National State. We will not hand over the natural resources of our country in exchange for international debts and the looting that is taking place will come to an end. Only the Armenian National Bank will have exclusive rights to create money, which will be intended for circulation, and the money in circulation will be equal to the combination of the production potential and labor efforts of the Armenian Nation. The parameters included in this calculation will be completely transparent to the people. Our monetary system would work on a completely different principle, where our nation's currency or paper money would have a value not tied directly to gold or other precious metals, as in countries using the "gold standard," but to labor, thus effectively applying the "work standard" concept, which is the best way to have a fair and prosperous economy.

The current banking system around the world, which is a fractional-reserve banking system, enables private banks to create credit; in other words, to create money out of thin air. Most of the money circulating in our financial system is created in this way. Money has become just numbers in a computer system, only a very tiny percentage of which actually exists as physical currency. There is no real value of the amount of money in circulation. This also means that even if all citizens worked day and night to pay their debts and our State's debt, it would be impossible, because that amount of physical wealth does not exist in our country. The same applies to other countries and superpowers that have become victims of this banking system of slavery. This conspiracy is one of the biggest scams in all of history. This is the reason why inflation is increasing year by year and the value of currencies is decreasing year by year. Constantly printing money devalues the meaning of money: if money grows on trees, it becomes worthless like leaves. This phenomenon creates a big economic bubble that will burst sooner or later.

The State and the people, in fact, have no control over this system. This entire structure provides a complex mechanism for the banking elite to plunder the resources of countries and individuals. With this kind of power, the bankers are able to rule the states and create chaos around the world. This dominant financial system must be fundamentally changed if we want to create a truly prosperous life for our citizens.

Enslavement from interest rates is fundamentally unsound because it means taking from the poor in order to give to the rich. In practice, this system rewards those with large amounts of money with interest gains, while penalizing those with little money through interest charges. Even worse is today's practice of multiple interest charges placed on average citizens who are stuck paying high interest payments as a significant part of their monthly expenses. All this is a means used by destructive financial forces to steal from the people.

Instead of interest, we will introduce a withholding fee. Those who choose to withhold significant amounts of capital from circulation will pay a fee to the government. This is to stimulate trade and production, which in turn stimulates a healthy and vibrant economy. The details of how this is to be done must be developed using empirical studies and will be tailored to fit the current situation.

In our envisioned National State, a citizen will not borrow money to pay for his welfare, because living a life of short-sighted luxury so that our children and grandchildren carry the burden of the national debt on their shoulders does not correspond to the values and principles of Racialism.

Our movement, by nationalizing the monetary infrastructure, will destroy usury aka interest slavery, and break out of the current global financial system, in order to return our Fatherland's resources from the banking elite back to our Nation. This is one of the most important steps to break free from international Zionism, which rules the entire civilized world. Special and preferential trade agreements must be concluded immediately with those countries that will also withdraw from the international Zionist financial system.

An economy and civilization centered on credit and speculation, instead of honest and hard work, is doomed to collapse. The center of attention of all economists in the country should be getting rid of this current state-wrecking banking and financial system and the creation of the Armenian National State Bank.

Thus, we will drive the bloodthirsty usurers and money-lenders out of our "temple" as the Nazarene did two thousand years ago.

Pillar 6

Political-Economic System

For our political-economic system, we prefer National Socialism, while rejecting the nation-destroying capitalism and communism (Marxist socialism), both of which are two different sides of the same coin created by our enemies. It will not be prohibited to own and develop private property, but only an Armenian citizen can own private property in Armenia. At the same time, productive enterprise will be established, creating an atmosphere of innovation, which will encourage entrepreneurship and productivity. In the National Socialist system, instead of giving equal results, all citizens will be given equal opportunities to develop, thanks to which the hardworking people will advance and prosper in our society, while the lazy and unproductive people will not. Only in such a system can all people and classes live in harmony with each other. The political and economic principles of National Socialism already exist in Racialism and cannot be separated from each other. In other words, National Socialism is the political-economic part of Racialism.

In order for our country to thrive, we must first immediately adopt the correct political and economic system - National Socialism, and condemn the nation-destroying capitalism and communism (Marxist socialism), created and spread by our enemies, which have only brought nothing but chaos to our civilization, and whose end goal is the same: to rob and enslave the hardworking and decent citizens of the Nation: the first by means of capital, the second by force. Communism, which artificially divides society and pits classes against each other, is not real socialism, rather, it is a defiled version of socialism, which gives everyone equal results, reducing successful, qualified and hard-working people to the level of the lazy and deadbeats of society. That is why all the states infected by communism suffer from unemployment and poverty. Moreover, communism has killed more people in history than any other ideology. We are ideologically and in essence anti-communist, and strongly oppose Bolshevism disguised as "nationalism". Any sympathy for the former USSR, is very dangerous and counterproductive for any national movement. The Racialist believes that the history of mankind is not the history of the struggle between classes, but of races.

As far as capitalism is concerned, money, or capital, should only serve as a medium of exchange for work or services, and making money should never be seen as the ultimate goal, as we see in capitalist countries. Capital is a tool for productive enterprise, and the United States of America, for example, achieved its economic success not because it was "capitalist", but because it was productive and enterprising. One of the reasons for its impending destruction is that it switched from productive enterprise to capitalism. However, ironically, after the creation of Marxism, Marxists began to spread the concept of "capitalism", which defiled the very concept of productive enterprise. Attacking the tool known as capital, they demonized enterprising and productive people as thieves and exploiters. In short, they mixed the good with the bad and created confusion.

Capitalism takes society to the pinnacle of greed and consumerism, and we know very well that greed is what destroys everything in the long run. We are not by any means against the wealthy and we do not believe that everyone can have equal wealth, but the National State should not allow greedy giant capitalists to effect laws with their capital and corrupt the State system to advance their personal interests. It is practically impossible and unnatural to distribute the wealth of the country equally, but in a National Socialist society wealth will be much better distributed than in communist or capitalist systems, where the distribution of wealth is skewed from one extreme to the other.

Everyone strives to receive honest wages for the amount of honest work done, so that they can meet at least the minimum expenses for themselves and their families, living as prosperous a life as possible, and we believe that this can only be achieved in a National Socialist system. A productive enterprise, which is one of the best means to give something productive to society, will be the engine of the economy. In this system, the most competent and capable people will be employed, and the dishonest ways of nepotism will be done away with.

All citizens will have the right and duty to work. In such an Aryan system all those who are mentally and physically capable of working should be able to find honest work. Only industrious people will advance and their efforts will be appreciated, because in such a system diligence will be considered the highest virtue and the best means to obtain happiness. Here lies another one of our mottos: "Joy through Work". Such virtues can only be valued in a National Socialist society. The ones with the most credibility will be those, who have benefited the community the most with their intelligence and hard work, and not the ones who simply have the most money or other material wealth. Committing fraud to make a quick buck without any work should be considered one of the greatest sins, because the future Aryan society that we will create will have no room for parasitic freeloaders. Only in such a society will the citizens know not just the price of things, but the true value.

However, as Racialists and advocates of National Socialism, we realize that no matter how much personal wealth we righteously earn, we cannot feel fully happy in our country if the majority of the population lives in poverty. This does not mean that wealth should be forcibly taken from successful people and "equally" distributed to the less fortunate, as was done in communist countries. The State should arrange jobs for all its citizens, but we understand that not everyone is physically or mentally able to work, that's why successful people should feel a sense of duty to help their compatriots who are not capable of working and providing for themselves and their families. Therefore, tax money will be used to create a National Welfare Fund for our brothers and sisters who want to work but are unable to, and it will be the responsibility of the State to ensure that this money always goes to the right place. We believe that it is only in giving that we receive.

In such a just state, we are confident that by bringing everything into balance, we can restore the middle class, ensure the wealth of the honest elite, eliminate oligarchy and plutocracy, and almost completely eradicate unemployment, corruption, and poverty. Salaries will automatically increase, because everyone, having their own unique role, will work in their respected profession and contribute to the prosperity of society. Only in this way can all our compatriots live in harmony as one big family. A liberal says, "everything for me," a communist says, "everything for my class," a capitalist says, "everything for my wealth," and a Racialist says, "everything for the glory of the Fatherland", remaining loyal not to his ego, class or money, but to his race. For us, Armenia is above everything.

By applying these principles, we are confident that over the years we can completely lift the economy out of the current swamp that it is in, because everything will function in a normal way, and as a result, it will be quite possible that the total number of working hours for the entire week will not exceed 30, while maintaining the same salary. This will help our compatriots to have more free time not only to relax, but also to exercise, engage in science, create culture and contribute to our country in general.

Regarding work, we must emphasize that we are against feminism, where women are encouraged to prioritize careers over raising a family and having children, but we are also against the kind of male chauvinism where men oppress and abuse women, as we see in many Muslim countries. Yes, women will have the right to work like men, but women's work should never interfere with motherhood. We can solve this problem if, by the order of the State, the workers prefer to employ mothers with many children, rather than those girls who are still single and do not have children. Of course, there are also jobs that are compatible to a given gender, and that tradition should be preserved. A firefighter, for example, should only be a man, and a nurse a woman, but rare exceptions will always be considered, and they will be selected for the job based on their abilities and never to advance some unnatural agenda. Men and women should complement each other with their unique characteristics endowed by nature. In other words, we must have a masculine society that is complemented by femininity and not the other way around. In this case, women will be much more respected and valued than now where feminism has infected society.

The National State must condemn feminism and praise motherhood through propaganda, while financially supporting healthy women who can bear many children. The fight against feminism is necessary if we want to eliminate the disastrous consequences of low birth rates and divorces. Feminism has not "liberated" women, as the lying international enemy media claims, but has misled and enslaved them, diverting them from their most natural instinct of motherhood. The ones who are promoting "gender equality" are the ones who really do not care about women and femininity at all. Men do the hard and strenuous work to keep our beloved wives, mothers and sisters safe and away from such discomforts. There is nothing more sacred than motherhood, because the life of our Nation begins right from the wombs of our women. Without supporting motherhood, we cannot secure a future for our coming generations. Naturally, this means that men should also become fathers, and the celibate or bachelor lifestyles should be condemned.

In order to encourage the marriages of citizens, and thus, increase in the birth rate, the state should provide newlyweds with a large loan at zero percent, with which they will be able to buy their own house, and after having each child, the amount of the loan will decrease by a quarter, as a result of which it turns out that after having four children, the loan will be completely repaid.

In general, adoptions will be encouraged, but only a traditional-natural couple can adopt a child. Naturally, the marriages of homosexuals will always be illegal, but homosexuals will not be judged and punished, if, of course, they do not preach their unnatural orientation and lifestyle.

It is also important that any decent state provides its citizens with free education and healthcare without any discrimination. The pensions for the elderly should be increased so that they can meet their minimum requirements and not depend on other sources of money. An organization should also be created for pensioners so that they can continue their contact with society by volunteering and transferring their knowledge and life experience to the younger generation.

Of course, our soldiers and officers maimed or disabled from military service will not be neglected, and the families of the fallen and martyred serviceman will be provided for. The State will be obliged to adequately compensate them for their tremendous sacrifices.

In recent decades, especially now, paying taxes to the State is considered theft by many, and this is understandable, because when a Nation has a government made up of reprobate criminals, it will never want to give money to the state from its own pocket. However, if we can establish solidarity in our country with the above-mentioned approaches, paying taxes to the State will not be considered theft, which people will try to avoid at all costs, but a duty, where people will gladly pay the tax, because they will know that it will go towards the right goal. They will realize that stealing from the State is the same as stealing from one's own family, because the State will naturally have the same attitude towards its citizens. As a result of that, we are sure that the tax in our envisioned State will be much less than what we have today.

Progress and a successful State should not be determined according to how big the gross domestic product is, but rather, in the course of continuous changes, on what kind of prosperous life the State is able to provide for its citizens and its entire Nation.

Pillar 7

Industry and Agriculture

In order to be truly independent and self-sufficient, our country must have a powerful and comprehensive industry and a flourishing agriculture. Therefore, starting with small steps, we should bring our industry to the level so that all necessary items are produced in Armenia with high quality, and bring our agriculture to the level so that we can easily feed our national population with the food we grow. This is necessary to have a prosperous economy, which will be as independent as possible from other countries, foreign investments and other circumstances.

In this age of globalization, where industry, agriculture and economies of many countries are interconnected, there are few countries that can be considered truly independent. Very few can develop or even survive without outside help, and this has made especially small countries dependent on bigger countries, especially superpowers. Therefore, when one superpower has an economic crisis, it affects all other countries. We are not against the type of globalization, where countries establish good relations and trade among themselves, but the kind of globalization, which we have today, can only lead to the destruction of states and their sovereignty.

Being in this kind of situation, our once creative Nation has turned into just a people of merchants, which, instead of creating something of quality, imports cheap and low-quality products from abroad to sell them in the markets. Thus, instead of producing and exporting goods, we only import in order to sell in the domestic market. This keeps us completely dependent on external circumstances. Due to such a mentality, the same approach exists in the construction industry, where instead of building factories, for example, mostly restaurants and hotels are built in our country, turning Armenia into a country only for tourists.

It is surprising that almost no political organization or party talks about this fundamental and important issue. For almost all political analysts and economists, the only way to develop Armenia's economy is to receive investments from abroad and develop tourism, which should be considered nonsense for any nationalist. Yes, foreign investment and tourism are certainly positive things, but how can we keep our entire country's economy dependent on external circumstances? That means if the whole world is destroyed and only Armenia remains, we will die of hunger. Investments and tourism should only have an economic-supporting importance and not be perceived as the only factors driving that economy. We consider not raising this issue as a result of stupidity or a systematic conspiracy by all those who want to see Armenia as a country of lavash and apricots instead of a country with a powerful industry.

It is vital for Armenia to have a strong industry. Therefore, everything, from the smallest construction tools to the largest technical devices, should be produced in Armenia with high quality. The "Made in Armenia" label should be equivalent to, or even better than, the "Made in Germany" or "Made in Japan" labels. Excellence will become synonymous with Armenianism. Only in this way can we instill and develop the awareness among all Armenians in Armenia and Diaspora, that Armenia is not only a country for tourism or investments, but a country for living, working, creating and raising families.

Along with strengthening the industry, we must definitely also ensure our ration security, and we can do this only if Armenia can feed its population independently, without having the necessity to import any foods from abroad. This requires us to revolutionize our agriculture, by putting more of an emphasis on plant farming rather than animal agriculture. We are sure that by taking the right steps in this area, we will be able to easily feed our entire population even with our current land area, without having any shortage of food whatsoever. The lack of locally grown food in our country is absurd, when we consider the fact that we have fertile lands and abundant natural resources. There can be no famine in paradise if agriculture is put on the right track. All this does not mean that different items and foods will not be imported to Armenia, it just simply means that we should not be dependent on those foreign imports for our survival and prosperity.

By introducing such radical changes in agriculture, the emptying of the villages will be halted, because the farmers will no longer want or need to go or move to the city for work. Thus, the villages along with their farmers will restore their deserved reputation as the feeders and nurturers of the national population. This also means that naturally the population in our Fatherland will not be concentrated only in cities or the capital as it is now. The population will be distributed more evenly and the villages will no longer be considered only places to have summer houses. People will be able to live and find work in villages as easily as in cities.

Any work that contributes to society will no longer be considered a shame, regardless of whether it is a garbage collector or a janitor. Those who do not work at all will be the ones to really feel shame.

In general, we also consider it absurd that unemployment is so high in our country, where there are countless jobs to be done. When we establish a just banking and financial system and work on our industry and agriculture, the issue of unemployment will be solved automatically whilst leaving poverty in our past. This means that our population will have a completely new attitude towards labor and farming, and will realize that we can keep the land only by loving it, and we can love it only by cultivating it. This is the main principle of the "blood and soil" creed.

In order to inculcate the love of labor and farming among our compatriots, we will make mandatory a six-month labor service, which everyone will have to do before reaching the age of thirty. This will instill in all citizens that they should serve the Fatherland not only with weapons, but also with a spade and a scythe, regardless of their profession.

The worker and the farmer will always be the pillars of our Fatherland and the backbone of the Armenian soldier standing on the frontline. Therefore, it is the duty of the State to provide for the workers and farmers with whatever is needed and show them support in various issues. Yes, without scientists, civilization will not advance, and without artists society won't beautify, but without workers and farmers, humanity will not exist at all.

This is one of the most important ways that we can become de facto independent from the current state of de jure independence. With the firm hands of the Armenian workers working in our factories and the unbreakable backs of the Armenian farmers working in the fields, we will once again become the builders of our own destiny.

Pillar 8

Science and Technology

The development of science and technology is of paramount importance to Armenia in this modern age and is crucial for our security and prosperity. We will have to create a whole new science, so that we can not only compete and exceed our rivals and enemies, but also be able to show our creativity and genius to all mankind. We are determined to make Armenia the center of science on this planet.

It is no secret that science in Armenia is in a very dire situation, and there is no other field in our country that is in a more critical state than the technical field. Science has reached this terrible state largely because of the short-sightedness, primitive-mindedness and greed of all our "leaders". More than thirty years of emigration also contributed to this, as a result of which our country was emptied of intellectuals, namely specialists of the exact sciences. They killed the innovative spirit in science so that Armenia won't have serious progress in the scientific field. However, we know that the Armenian Nation has the potential to become a serious contender in the international scientific community and produce world-renowned scientists. Only dedicated scientists living and working in Armenia will be able to create a powerful military industry in our country, which will surpass the military industry of our enemies.

In the fight against our enemies, quantity is not in our favor, because our Aryan Nation with a population of three million is surrounded by a hundred million anti-Armenian Turks. Science and technology can be our most powerful weapon against our enemies in this matter, because science can balance the situation and even give us an advantage.

However, we should not develop science only for military reasons. It is equally important for us to invent revolutionary means of obtaining new energy, so that the dependence on oil ceases, causing great harm to our enemy neighbors, whose entire economy depends on the sale of oil and gas. New and natural energy technologies have been suppressed for decades by oil corporations and other such infamous forces, because the development of such technologies would free humanity from the current shackles of slavery.

The world is facing a major energy crisis, and we should not be chasing after these old technologies, because we're not going to get anywhere doing so. If we want to experience a rapid growth, we Armenians must understand the importance of creating a whole new science. To create a science based on new principles, great emphasis should be placed not only on experimental physics, but also on theoretical physics, which has not experienced any progress in the last hundred years, mainly because of speculators who call themselves "theoretical physicists".

Just as thousands of years ago our ancestors discovered iron, created the wheel and the chariot - the tank of the time, and thanks to that ingenuity surpassed all other nations, so we in this modern age must create self-sustaining energy models and technically advanced weapons that work on completely new principles, that will give us the edge we need to mark our rightful place on the geopolitical stage.

Therefore, the State has a duty to emphasize the importance of science and technology everywhere, and to encourage the youth from the youngest age to become scientists and innovators of industry. In addition to providing free education in universities, the State must provide grants and financial support to young scientists, especially physicists, chemists, engineers, and other such specialists who are on their way to becoming serious scientists for the Fatherland. We should not allow foreign forces to try to distract us from the science that can really benefit our country. We must not allow our young scientists to be exploited to advance their godless technocratic agenda. This issue will be dealt with by a separate and special ministry dedicated only to science and technology, and we will not make it an adjunct of other ministries.

Technology will be for liberating and advancing humanity and our moral development will never suffer because of our technological development as we see in today's modern world, where billionaire technocrats in the service of Zionism use technology for evil by enslaving humanity. We cannot ignore all this if we want to reach for the stars, figuratively and literally. We are obliged to reveal the secrets of the universe.

We must provide and support the scientists with everything, so that the number of scientists in the Fatherland keeps growing and the thought of emigrating no longer crosses their minds. We should not allow science to be buried in our country, because then all the possibilities of our future development will also be buried. Science will flourish in Armenia, bringing with it light to the whole world immersed in darkness, and the Earth will once again witness the genius of the Armenian scientific mind.

Pillar 9

Education and Media

Education and the media should have the duty to educate and convey the truth to our national population, while also maintaining a disciplinary role. If we want to educate and raise a completely new nationalist generation, the media and education system, which will be based exclusively on nationalist ideas, must be controlled by the National State, and all direct and indirect propaganda that is harmful to our Nation, especially the youth, will be banned, while all propaganda supporting the progress of the Nation will be promoted.

Our future National State must not allow education to be degraded and denationalized, and in addition to controlling the country's media, it must also be a shield against the international Zionist media that is decaying people's minds and corrupting their souls. This corruption is becoming more evident every year, and along with it the degradation of our youth is becoming more obvious. Seeing the shameless state of the current education system and the appalling and anti-national propaganda presented in the media, these facts should not surprise us by any means. Education, and especially the media, can be powerful weapons for either degrading the Nation or for spiritually disciplining it. Unfortunately, we see that in our situation it is the first case, but we will not leave it in that condition.

We believe that schools have the potential to properly educate students, which is not being harnessed. We believe that students learn many things that they do not apply in real life and only learn to memorize some facts instead of learning the lessons behind those facts. Learning from history is important so that our future generations do not repeat the historical mistakes of our ancestors. History is nothing but the biography of a nation and without it we have no past, as a result of which we cannot have a future. Therefore, Armenian history, Armenian language and Armenian studies will be core subjects in all stages of our educational system. It is necessary to spread Armenology in order to counteract the falsification of the history of Armenia by our enemies. This falsification has one goal: to annihilate us from the pages of history before trying to physically annihilate us. Parallel to ardently supporting Armenian studies, great emphasis will be placed on archeology, because our inner voice tells us that there are still many secrets in our highlands that need to be unraveled. If our compatriots want to understand the history of humanity, they should first of all understand our Armenian history, because Armenian history is connected with the history of world civilization.

In order to raise a determined and responsible man or woman, schools will teach the art of survival, where they will learn to use and apply different types of tools for extreme conditions, and how to survive in nature with few resources. In addition to that, they will learn military science, martial arts and other such important subjects, which should be instilled in our children from an early age. In short, schools should not only impart knowledge to students, but also teach them how to think and shape the character of each student, making him a dignified Armenian. Schools will also organize field trips to different corners of Armenia several times a year to familiarize them with their Fatherland.

Starting from kindergarten, children should learn nationalist ideology in order to become state-minded and productive citizens for the sake of the Fatherland. Every nation deserves the government it has, that is why we must raise a Nation that will be worthy of a noble and honorable government.

In order to support all this, it will be necessary for our State to create an Armenian social media platform, and to ban those platforms that only inject confusion and chaos into our society.

Higher education will be free, as already mentioned, but in these universities, as well as in the entire education system, students should be educated and encouraged with the idea that everything they study is not only to get a job and earn money, but also to use that knowledge and become useful to our Nation. All great discoveries and feats in humanity were done not for money, but for the purpose of making the world a better place. In order to create a more positive atmosphere for students and to promote creative thinking, schools and universities should be built like campuses, as we see in Europe and the USA.

At the same time, we should have a National State Media to complement what is being taught in schools. Education and media are intertwined and cannot be separated from each other. We cannot have a good education system without having a good media and vice versa. In our modern age, the word propaganda has taken on a negative connotation, and this is understandable, because most of the current propaganda corrupts people and destroys families. However, as we have already mentioned, media propaganda is a weapon that we can use in a positive way, if the right people take a hold of that weapon. Without any doubt, the National Media can be a powerful weapon to educate the Nation with truthful propaganda. This is necessary because if the National State does not educate its citizens, they will be brainwashed by hostile false propaganda. We see an example of this in our Fatherland now, when we see brainwashed people everywhere who have not been disciplined with national ideals.

That is why the music, shows and films that degrade our youth should be banned on television, radio and the internet. Propaganda can be a great tool to stop the degradation of the Nation, which we cannot ignore in this modern technological age where the number of weaklings and spineless people have increased so much. We know that hard times create strong men that create good times, but the State, by continuously educating and disciplining its citizens, must keep the Nation's immune system strong so that in those good times weak men do not arise, who will create hard times again. Mandatory wearing of uniforms, which must be restored, will play a big role in disciplining the population.

In the entire educational system and in the media, every Armenian should be deeply aware that there is no freedom without discipline, just as there are no rights without duties. The more disciplined the society is, the more freedom the citizens in that society will have. Similarly, the newly acquired rights will cause the demand to perform new duties, which, if performed, will bring with it new rights. The freedom of man and society will be meaningful if it is combined with responsibility and duty. Nothing good comes easy in this world of eternal struggle, nor can there be glory without sacrifice for a greater purpose. This is one of the important lessons that a man must learn if he wants to go from "sub-man" to superman and beyond.

We realize how much the femininity of society has harmed the masculinity of our civilization and turned many men into cowards, men who should be the leaders and protectors of our Nation. Due to comfortable living and a self-destructive lifestyle, statistics show that testosterone has decreased in men in these last fifty years, which negatively affects masculinity, and where masculinity is lacking, manliness will also be lacking. Our enemies know very well that if they weaken masculinity by "castrating" men, then the society will be much easier to manage and control, because there will be no more resistance to their satanic plans. We can restore the spirit of masculinity in society when the National State assumes the role of the Father of the Nation, trying to make all its citizens as independent and self-reliant as possible in all aspects, and not dependent on the State in every miniscule matter. Citizens will be educated to know that a superior man of high values imposes duties on himself instead of arguing over his rights like an inferior man. With such a mindset, a person will pursue greatness and not happiness, because the pursuit of greatness is what builds an impactful life and brings lasting joy.

This is how education and the media, by serving the same greater purpose, can teach our compatriots the truth, raise decent citizens, and most importantly, nourish their souls and give a higher meaning to their lives.

Pillar 10

Culture

Culture is the identity of the Nation, the outward expression of the inner spiritual nature of the Nation, which we must preserve and protect from all kinds of anti-national degradation. Culture is also an objective indicator of the society's condition. Therefore, our movement will initiate a very important action to cleanse the Armenian culture - language, art, literature, song, dance and architecture - of all foreign, abominable influences. Only by nationalizing and beautifying our culture can we respect, love and value it like something holy.

Our culture, and that of all Aryan nations in general, has been under heavy attack by the international Zionist media for at least the last hundred years. Language has been tainted by hooligan jargon, art has been defiled by so-called "modern art", literature has been corrupted by trash literature, songs and dances have been degraded by rap and hip-hop jungle music and movements, and architecture has turned into something ugly and gloomy where instead of building beautiful and impressive structures and cities, asphalt jungles resembling prisons are being built. Everything that we once held in high regard to be artistic and ethereal has been desecrated for the sole purpose of contributing to our fall. All these are indicators that our inner world has been insidiously distorted by our enemies, as a result of which we have a distorted external world. Therefore, we are obliged to clean our culture from such elements so that our children do not inherit such an abomination; because without doing so, we cannot stop the degradation of our society.

This defiled culture is, in fact, anti-national and anti-Aryan, whose aim is to destroy beauty in all aspects of our society. We aim to preserve this beauty by protecting our noble culture that plays a key role in Armenian national preservation, a noble culture from which our majestic language, magnificent art, wonderful literature, beautiful songs and dances, and impressive architecture are derived. To beautify our life, we must first beautify the cultural world around us. To do this, all kinds of degenerate films, songs, literature, dances, and TV series which directly or indirectly promote feminism, homosexuality, pornography, hooligan subculture and other similar poisons that threaten our Armenian culture should be banned. The degradation of our culture is also very well expressed in the dressing style of our present generation, which has deteriorated tremendously and gets worse with every passing generation. Nightclubs and casinos will also be closed, because the healthy and conscious people will be disgusted by such things and will not tolerate them anymore. Instead, a much nobler culture will be restored that will really speak to our hearts and souls.

Great emphasis should be placed on cleaning our language from foreign words and hooligan jargon. Armenians should no longer have a careless attitude towards their sacred language. Architecture will also be completely revolutionized, and there will no longer be those monstrous high-rise prison cells inherited from the Soviet Union, which cause disgust every time we look at them. Each architectural initiative will have a clear layout, on which the best artists and architects of our Nation will work on. Roads, buildings and all other structures will be built to last decades and even centuries, and not rot in a few years, as is done now on purpose to benefit greedy capitalists.

We will cleanse our culture of anti-nationalism, which seems to have reached a sickening level, but this, of course, does not mean that there will be only Armenian elements in our culture. We will not reject the different parts and ideas of the cultures of other Aryan nations, if they are consistent with our Armenian cultural ideals. In any case, we should not confuse taking examples and learning from foreigners with anti-nationalism.

Generally speaking, Aryan culture is nobler than all other cultures, and we, the Armenians, as the vanguard Nation of that noble Aryan culture and the inhabitants of the cradle of Aryan civilization, have a greater responsibility in defending our holy Aryan culture, that has been refined, protected and passed down by the sacrifices by our forefathers, and influenced countless civilizations after us.

Pillar 11

Healthcare and Environmentalism

We cannot have a healthy Nation if, naturally, we do not have healthy kinsmen, therefore, in addition to providing free medicine, our health care system must be revolutionized, making it mandatory for medical professionals to study natural treatments and remedies. The education system and the National State Media will have to teach and promote a healthy lifestyle, particularly the importance of good nutrition and exercise in order to prevent diseases and even cure existing ones. The State will also provide tax subsidies for the production of plant-based healthy food, so that it will be accessible and affordable for everyone. We cannot have a beautiful and green country if we do not, as much as possible, heal the damages we have caused to nature by transforming our entire approach to the natural world and wildlife. This also means that the exploitation of the mines will be stopped immediately, especially if it brings profit to the oligarchs and foreign companies. We have no right to show disrespect to nature and wildlife by carelessly and ignorantly defiling it, because nature is the temple of the Creator, of which we are all an integral part.

According to medical statistics, every year the majority of our population (as well as the world population) die from cardiovascular diseases, colon cancer, diabetes, kidney diseases, strokes and other such terrible, preventable illnesses, which are mainly caused by poor diet and lifestyle. This is an astonishing statistic, because it turns out that more than half of our compatriots die every year without living even half of their life's potential. Most of our doctors are good at diagnosing diseases and performing operations, but, unfortunately, they know almost nothing about healthy food and healthy lifestyle. This phenomenon is prevalent throughout the civilized world, because the greedy and evil pharmaceutical industry has corrupted medical universities and medicine in general with their large amounts of money, teaching doctors only to prescribe drugs for diseases. However, as we know, prescribing drugs only hides the symptom and does not cure the root illness. Modern medicine, for various diseases and cancers, even deliberately hides natural cures, such as extended fasting and raw plant based diet, because they cannot make money from such cures.

Only with healthy food, healthy lifestyle and some natural treatments can we cure these diseases: here it is appropriate to quote the words of Hippocrates, the father of modern medicine: "let thy food be thy medicine". For the terminally ill or disabled, who are suffering and cannot be cured, the principles of euthanasia will be applied, allowing them to take their own life with their own permission.

The number of these deaths can be prevented and almost completely eradicated by making small but radical changes in our lives, because we confidently claim that these diseases are not natural. Doctors will have to learn of what real health really is. Schools will teach the importance of healthy eating, staying away from smoking, alcohol, drugs and junk food. Propaganda campaigns should be initiated against these addictions and other harmful habits that destroy our health, because a healthy Nation must consist of healthy individuals.

Rehabilitation centers will be opened everywhere to cure drug addicts and those with other addictions, even using natural psychedelics if necessary. A healthy lifestyle will be promoted everywhere in the media, encouraging everyone to adopt that lifestyle. Restaurants will be forced to have healthy plant-based food alternatives, and grocery stores will be forced to have a larger variety of plant-based foods. The Ministry of Health will have a special body that will control the quality of food in restaurants and grocery stores. Weightlifting, martial arts, gymnastics, running, hiking, yoga, meditation and other such healthy activities will be heavily promoted and taught in schools. The State will create a franchise of gyms and martial arts clubs, which will have many locations in different parts of Armenia, whose membership fee will be nominal and accessible to everyone. Health is more than being free from disease, it is being healthy in mind and spirit through the body, which will contribute to the overall well-being of our Nation.

Walking in nature and on the streets, it is clear how indifferent our population has become to the natural world. There is almost no corner of our country that is not covered with litter, and we cannot consider ourselves patriotic if we do not solve this problem. In order to have a clean Fatherland, our general attitude towards nature and wildlife must be radically changed. By adopting environmental views, we will keep the natural world and ecosystem of our Fatherland as pristine as possible. We can instill such views from kindergarten thanks again to media propaganda. Litterers should be severely fined and, in extreme cases, severely prosecuted. Parallel to this, large recycling centers will be built in cities and villages in order to reduce our damage to nature. By slowly putting agriculture on the bases of plant farming, we will significantly reduce deforestation, and the pollution of air and water, which will save many ecosystems by boosting biodiversity. Any major changes to the landscape will require approval and permission from the central Nature Conservation Authority.

It will be impossible to have a positive attitude towards nature if we do not have a positive attitude towards the animals living in nature, which is the very soul of that nature. Humanity's cruelty to animals has been known for a long time, and it is nothing new at all, but nevertheless we strongly condemn animal cruelty, and those people who commit cruelty towards animals will be prosecuted severely. We will ban all kinds of ritual animal sacrifices. Cruel and harmful experiments on animals will also be banned. In short, laws will be created and enforced to protect animals from cruelty, because such ill treatment of animals is against our morals and essence. Our children will learn to respect and love all animals from the youngest age, because animals are also creatures of the Creator who share our wonderful natural world with us.

We strive to see a cleaner, greener world, but we must not be carried away with "feminine" altruism by showing illogical compassion to the detriment of our race. We are advocates of "masculine" altruism, by which we can, without compromising the interests of our race, simultaneously show compassion towards animals, nature, as well as other races of humanity, so long as they are not enemies of our race. The goal of the masculine altruist is primarily the preservation, development and reproduction of nature's best species, while not harming other creatures of nature as much as possible. We should not allow enemy manipulators to take advantage and use this tolerance and altruism of ours against us, as they are already doing. Vigilance in this matter must always be preserved, because as wise men have said in the past: the price of freedom is eternal vigilance.

Solving health and environmental problems should objectively be the easiest, but it is quite difficult, because it is related to lifestyle and habits, which are impossible to change quickly. However, over the years, generation after generation, we can almost completely eliminate diseases with these changes and also purify the sacred land of our forefathers. We will have healthy souls in healthy bodies, and healthy bodies in a cleaner and greener world.

Pillar 12

Armed Forces and Nation-Army

Our efforts to build a strong state and a prosperous society will be meaningless if we cannot protect them. Therefore, we are well aware that the number one guarantor of our Statehood and the security of our Fatherland is the Armenian Armed Forces, and for a small Nation surrounded by enemies like us, becoming a Nation-Army is a necessity for survival. Therefore, our entire army should be modernized through the military industry, and compulsory military service should not only be maintained, but also become stricter, while simultaneously improving the service conditions of soldiers in military bases and outposts. However, in order to have a victorious Armed Forces, there must be an adequate civilian population backing it, therefore, our culture and society must be militarized, turning Armenia into an impregnable fortress, a modern day "Sparta", whose citizens will be raised from birth with a militaristic mentality, receiving military experience and being ready for battle at any instant. Armenia, for its size and population, should strive to become the most militarized country in the world. There is no other way to ensure the existence of our Nation and preserve our independence. This is the only way to enforce lasting peace.

The fact that we have not been completely eliminated by being at the center of the clash of civilizations for thousands of years is proof of our fighting spirit and militaristic nature, which is what really frightens our enemies. For centuries, the Armenian soldier has instilled fear in our enemies, and our warriors have been recognized as among the best in the world.

The most recent example of this was, of course, the Artsakh Liberation War. That is the reason why our enemies have always wanted to break us psychologically, so that we do not believe in our military potential and adopt a slave mentality instead. The purpose of the 44-day conspiratorial war in 2020 was to stab our army in the back through our traitors and internal enemies, in order to break us mentally so that we no longer have any hope for military victories in the future. However, steadfast Armenians will not be deceived and humiliated by such conspiracies. We know that we can defeat all our enemies if there is no treason from within. As a Nation, we need to understand this before we move on to building a powerful army.

It is no secret that we are weaker to the armies of our enemies in regards to the modernity and quantity of our weapons. That's why, when we come to power, we will immediately set about modernizing our army and we will not hesitate at all in this matter. We should not only buy weapons from different countries, but also establish our own military industry and start making our own weapons, no matter how improbable it may seem at the moment. Here, too, we must realize that all great things come from small beginnings, therefore, by first creating small weapons, we will then move on to creating bigger weapons, if we stay determined and consistent.

Along with having modern weapons and factories, we must have an army that will match the quality of those weapons. For this, we will simultaneously improve the service conditions of our soldiers by providing them with quality uniforms and items and renovating military bases and outposts. But at the same time, the service will become stricter, where, in addition to practicing strength sports and martial arts, they will also have tactical exercises every day and learn to use all the weapons in our arsenal, and not only the weapons assigned to each soldier. The military contract service will also become stricter, but at the same time setting a higher salary. By looking at our army and into the eyes of our soldiers, the enemy must tremble, and will no longer want to talk to us in a hostile language, but instead will be willing to negotiate out of fear.

Only in this way can we force peace and not beg for it. We have no right to even talk about peace if we are not ready for war. We can impose peace only if we as a Nation become an Army, and if we truly value peace, we cannot ignore this, because only with a Greater Armenia is it possible to establish stability and peace in this region.

In any country, especially a country at war like ours, desertion should be condemned and considered treason, and deserters should not be able to hold their heads high in their community. Those young men who, due to health problems, cannot serve equally with other soldiers, will serve in the Army in other ways, and we are sure that there will be no shortage of those ways. In the future Aryan State, serving in the Army will be considered a true rite of passage, the most important process of turning a boy into a man.

The preparation of our Army should no longer be only defensive in nature. Future Armenian warriors should also be prepared for offensive operations, because the best way to defend is to attack. Everyone, from young to old, and in extreme cases all women as well, must be ready for battle or at least have acquired some military skills. The more we sweat in times of peace, the less we will bleed in times of war. Readiness will come from preparation. We should no longer put our hope only on the heroic spirit of the Armenian soldier, although in history it has often saved us. There is no other way to survive and thrive in this region, at the world's most dangerous crossroads, than to have this approach to our military preparation. The best form of prayer is preparation.

Every young man of the Armenian youth should become tough as leather and hard as steel through a healthy lifestyle and rigorous exercises, not forgetting that the Goddess of Peace can live calmly only under the protection of the God of War. The Armenian youth will tame and civilize the mind, but make savage their body, because doing so they will indirectly make the soul more resilient. We will teach the Armenian youth the importance of being a warrior, because, as the wise men of the past have said: it is far better to be a warrior in a garden than a gardener in war.

The Armenian youth will be ashamed of not going to the front line during a war, because going to battle during war will not be considered heroism or even a duty, but an honor. The parents of the Armenian youth will be ashamed of even thinking of not letting their daughter marry an Armenian officer. Adolescents from the age of twelve will be accepted into the Armenian youth camps and will make special visits to the military outposts, so that the mentality of military service can be more deeply rooted from an early age. Special ideological courses should be held in the army as well, so that we can have ideological troops – from ordinary soldiers all the way to generals. We must raise and educate a kind of generation, where on our deathbed we can move onto the afterlife with a big smile on our face.

Weapons are the only salvation for Armenians, that's why we cannot be against the right to bear arms, and we believe that in a true National State, all decent and healthy citizens, especially our compatriots living near the line of contact, should have their own personal weapons, except for deserters, who will be deprived of that right. The population should not be afraid of its State, just as the State should not be afraid of its population. If that fear exists, then it is a sign that the State does not serve the interests of the Nation and Fatherland. The international Zionist media wants to manipulate us into believing that the right to bear arms is dangerous for society, but this is not true at all.

The National State must also have a strong domestic army in order to stop the anti-national coup d'état attempts, the agitators of which will be from outside the borders of our country. Compulsory service will be established for young women as well, but with a shorter time span and easier conditions, so that in extreme cases they can be ready to protect not only themselves, but also our villages and cities. For women, more emphasis will be placed on studying nursing and medicine in general. All the citizens who have served will be registered in the reserve army in order to be regularly called up to refresh their military knowledge and training. Residents living in villages near the border will be given free houses, weapons and many privileges to encourage the population to live near the line of contact, because the Fatherland begins where the border is drawn.

Yes, in this world the ones who are strong, not just, are the ones who triumph, but that does not mean that the strong must be unjust or evil. On the contrary, the good and the righteous are the strongest and bravest in this world. In Armenian, even the word "bari" (which means good) has the root "ari" (which means brave). Therefore, our strength must never effect our righteousness in a negative way. We consider it senseless and wrong to act cruelly against the innocent citizens of our enemies, especially women, children and the elderly. By doing that, we will only lower the reputation of the Armenian soldier, instead of raising it higher. There is no better way to instill fear in the Turks than to have a brave and prepared soldier. Undoubtedly, it is necessary to speak to the enemy in their language, but in the case of committing senseless atrocities, we do not speak to them in their language, but become just like them. In other words, we become like the unprincipled evil that we hate with all our hearts and against which we fight with all our strength. Our goal is not to be pointlessly merciless, but to create a strong State, build a victorious army and liberate our lost lands. By doing this, we will automatically punish our arch-enemies, and only then will we think about forgiving them and establishing relations. If innocent Turkish civilians are killed in the process, it will be considered collateral damage, not brutal cruelty against the enemy. Therefore, towards our enemies we should be tough, but not cruel, brave, but not savage, and be a warrior, not a murderer.

Without militarizing our entire society, we cannot become a Nation-Army. We are against Turkism and Turkification of Armenia, and if instead of kneeling to the enemy, we want to preserve our independence without turning our Fatherland into a "vilayet" or "gubernya", we have no other choice than to create a Nation-Army. That is the only way and only guarantee to keep our identity and remain Armenian. Serving for the glory of the Fatherland should be considered the greatest honor in the heart of every Armenian. Let's not forget that being a male is a matter of birth, being a man is a matter of choice, and being a soldier is a matter of duty.

Regardless of the number of our population and the current size of our country, we must clearly show the world that we cannot be conquered easily, regardless of how big their army is and how powerful their military equipment is. Thus, we can create a modern powerful Army with a generation of dedicated martyrs, which will not only be able to finally solve the Artsakh problem, by fully uniting Artsakh with Armenia, but will also be able to realize the most cherished dream of every pure blooded Armenian - the revival of Greater Armenia.

Pillar 13

Our Enemies and Their Agenda

The enemies of Armenia and the Armenian Nation are the pan-Turkists, the international Zionists, their supporters and all the traitors collaborating with them. Our enemies are also the Marxists, feminists, anarchists, and other destructive forces supported by Zionism, who all together want, directly or indirectly, to destroy the Aryan race and create their anti-national New World Order, which will mean the end of our beautiful blue planet. Therefore, our State must neutralize all sects, secret organizations, foreign agency networks, non-governmental organizations and political groups serving the enemy's agenda by acting against the interests of our Nation.

We have been in a constant struggle against our arch-enemies for centuries, but that struggle became very prevalent when Zionism, Pan-Turkism and Marxism were simultaneously created around the end of the nineteenth century: the first two united and organized our enemies against the civilized world, and the third divided and did terrible damage to the Aryan race and to the rest of humanity. We believe that this is not a coincidence, but definitely a systematic conspiracy to bring the Aryan world to its knees. In the twentieth century, these conspiratorial forces worked together to organize and carry out the Armenian Genocide, after which the Bolshevik revolution took place, and their terrible crimes killed hundreds of thousands of Armenians and millions of other Aryans.

In addition to committing genocides and anti-national revolutions, they also provoked two world wars in order to neutralize nationalism in the Aryan world, particularly in Europe. They destroyed the old world order in order to build their nightmarish new anti-Aryan world order.

That is the reason why since 1945 there has been a moral and spiritual decline in our entire civilization. Taking advantage of this opportunity, our enemies went to work very quickly and continued to degrade our race with various types of nation-destroying and harmful neo-Marxist propaganda, and we can see its disastrous consequences everywhere. The Zionists, in order to destroy homogeneity, also opened the borders of the Aryan countries so that the non-Whites could pour into the various White countries by the millions, because only in such a multicultural society can these ungodly forces engage in their diabolical activities. Turks and other non-White races are being used by international Zionism to wage a deadly war against our civilization. Due to their support, Europe is slowly becoming racially and culturally darker, and at this very moment the Turks in the Armenian Highland are very close to realizing their pan-Turkist dream.

The goal of the Turks and their Zionist overlords is to conquer Syunik and the rest of Armenia, in order to erase our country by slowly Turkifying it from within, which will also have destructive consequences for other White countries. No matter how small Armenia's area is at the moment, one thing is undeniable, that the Syunik region of Armenia is the modern day "Thermopylae" of Europe, without which the whole of Europe will be Turkified and Islamized much more quickly than it already is.

Zionism was not founded only for the sole purpose of creating Israel for the Jews. It was founded for much more sinister purposes. It was able to systematically take over almost all newspapers, radio stations and TV stations in the Aryan countries, because without it they cannot carry out their Talmudic agenda. In the process of achieving their goal, the Zionists destroy the societies in which they themselves enjoy a very good and comfortable life. They do this because they are essentially parasites by nature. Just as it is in the nature of a snake to bite, and it is in the nature of a scorpion to sting, so it is in their nature to deceive, corrupt and destroy. They have a remarkable ability to "sniff" us out in order to know our weaknesses and use them against us. They enter our society and corrupt us from the inside, changing the way we think and behave, so that we become easier prey for them to exploit. In short, they are gnawing away at our civilization from the inside like a swarm of termites. That is why, by corrupting everything, they destroy all social structures, and with their shamelessness they destroy everything that is pure and holy.

Along with this, they are robbing countries' resources with their banks in order to keep the people in poverty, because a people who constantly think about how to put bread on the table will not have the strength and means to fight against their conspiracy. People are constantly kept in fear by the news media, knowing full well that the masses living in fear are very easily controlled. They spread more big lies than small lies because the population will believe a big lie more easily than a small lie. They may tell a truth today in order to hide a bigger truth tomorrow. They often sugarcoat the spread of lies and distortions, mixing their propaganda with entertainment and humor. Their seizure of media corporations and their control of the banks gives them the power to dictate their will in domestic and foreign politics.

We as a people, unfortunately, act only for our personal interests, whereas the Jews act for the interests of their whole tribe, which is the very source of their strength and unity. They are doing everything to prevent such racial solidarity and consciousness from awakening among us. Without dividing us, they will not be able to do all of this, for this they constantly use the "divide and conquer" strategy by creating and financing various organizations and parties.

Our enemies communicate and pass on secret information and knowledge to each other through secret societies (such as "Freemasonry"), but only the top members of those secret societies are aware of what conspiracies those secret societies are actually involved in. This is also a very good way for them to recruit different types of traitors for their agenda and purposes, who have a great influence on society with their money or other means.

Perhaps the most dangerous and amazing feature of the Zionists is that they are able to create and lead a false opposition, because this is the best way for them to control the enemy. They do this both in domestic and foreign politics on a global scale. To advance any agenda, they need enemies and problems so that they can wage their destructive wars. If those enemies and problems do not exist, they will artificially create them with their power over the mass media of news and entertainment. In other words, they will create the problem, get the reaction from the population and then they will offer the solution that they wanted to propose from the very beginning. With their global spider web, they have created shadow states within states, whose interests always conflict with the interests of the nations in that web. International Zionism is the mortar that holds together the coalition of our enemy, and with its world-spanning connections it builds bridges between the many capitals of the world.

We understand that not every Turk agrees with the pan-Turkist programs and not every Jew agrees with the Zionist programs, both of which are anti-Armenian and anti-Aryan by nature. There will be Turks and Jews who will even be against these diabolical plans, and we salute such decisions, but this does not change the fact that, in general, the military-political programs and activities of Turks and Jews as a whole are harmful and destructive for our Nation and entire race. This is the main point that we need to understand and not lose sight of.

Conspiracies against us won't seem understandable and will seem confusing if we look at them piece by piece instead of looking at the bigger picture. If we want to see the big picture, we have to connect the pieces of the puzzle so that everything falls into place and their overall agenda becomes clearer.

If the satanic schemes of our enemies continue at this rate, and drastic changes are not made, the 21st century will not be ours, as our Commander once said with conviction, but will instead be the last century for us and the whole Aryan race, which will lead planet Earth to complete darkness. International Zionists understand very well that if they dominate and enslave the Aryan race, they will dominate and enslave all of humanity, but in the process they will simply destroy everything.

This is very important for us, Armenians, to understand if we want to see the bigger picture, as to why so many conspiracies against us are being woven. The target is not only our Nation, but also the rest of the White world. The destinies of the Aryan nations are intertwined, and in fact we have a common enemy. Just as an individual cannot escape the fate of his nation, so a nation cannot escape the fate of its race.

However, one thing we must understand very well is that the strength of our enemies is actually an illusion, because we are indirectly giving them strength due to our inaction and timidity. That illusion will be shattered when we recognize it as an illusion. The levers of power are in the hands of our enemies, but they aren't gods, and they regularly do make mistakes in their calculations. With our intellect we must be able to use their mistakes against them.

Yes, the Turks and the Zionists are our deadly enemies, but our most deadly enemies are the traitors among our people who collaborate with them, because without their willing cooperation and support, our enemies cannot pose such a threat to us. If we want our external enemies to respect us and take us seriously, we must first punish our internal enemies and traitors. Therefore we must send the traitors, opportunistic scoundrels, thieves, and all their other servants straight to hell. It is our duty to cleanse our "palace" the way Odysseus cleansed his palace 3000 years ago.

In any case, we should not focus on our enemies, because they are doing what they do, and we, Armenians, who are dedicated to our Nation and Fatherland, should do what we have to do. Neither the Russians, nor the Anglo-Saxons, nor even our arch-enemies are to blame for our problems. We are to blame for all our negligence and failures. We are to blame for letting our enemies do with us what they wish. It is necessary to bear this important and personal responsibility in order to realize that everything depends on us. Only in this way will we be able to find strength within ourselves to solve our problems and overcome challenges. Through our movement, the Creator has given our Nation the opportunity to redeem ourselves.

The tables of history are turning, the time of punishment will come, and the most important principle taken from the Old Testament of our enemies will be applied against them: "an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth".

We should only think about becoming stronger and succeeding. Instead of concentrating on our enemies, we should focus on the map of Greater Armenia. All our external enemies are only obstacles, which we have to obliterate to reach our goal.

Pillar 14

Repatriation

We think it would be absurd for any Armenian government not to cooperate with Diaspora Armenians. We are ready not only to use this potential for the sake of Armenia, but also by creating favorable conditions in our country, to start a great repatriation, slowly returning our decent compatriots living in the Diaspora back to their Fatherland. We realize that the Armenian Diaspora is temporary, because an Armenian can preserve his identity and remain Armenian only by living on the land of his forefathers. We must save our decent compatriots living in foreign countries from assimilation while we still have a chance.

Due to the crimes committed against our Nation by the Turks and Zionists in the previous century, our compatriots scattered across the world, but by the power of their will, many tried to preserve their identity as much as possible and avoid assimilation during the last several decades. However, no matter how many different Armenian organizations and schools are created on foreign shores, this cannot prevent the process of assimilation. By taking such steps, our compatriots can only delay the inevitable. This is a truth that many Diaspora Armenians stubbornly do not want to accept, mistakenly thinking that they can always raise Armenian generations while living in America, Europe or Russia. When we look at the youth living in those countries, we can clearly see the destructive consequences of assimilation. We see that after just one or two more generations, the Armenians there will be almost completely assimilated and instead of considering themselves Armenians, they will consider themselves Americans, Europeans or Russians with Armenian roots. That is why repatriation should be one of our main goals before it is too late, especially when we take into account the harsh fact that the majority of our national population lives outside the borders of our country, which is bewildering to say the least.

Repatriation is necessary for our compatriots living in the Diaspora, who want to preserve their identity and keep their generations Armenian, because Armenians are not a wandering nomadic people, but a Nation firmly attached to its highland, its land, like King Arshak: we are a part of that land and that land is a part of us and it cannot be separated. Therefore, to stop the "bleeding" of Armenia, green card lottery should no longer exist in our country, because it is one of the most insidious ways to depopulate Armenia of Armenians. We live only once in this reality, and if we don't live in our Fatherland in this life, then when will we? Our freedom fighters fought and shed blood to liberate our lands, so that we can live on those lands, not abandon them by handing them over to the Turks or all our other enemies.

A great repatriation propaganda campaign must be carried out very urgently, so that all dignified Diaspora Armenians are well aware of the danger of this assimilation. The idea that we cannot run away from the fate of our Fatherland should be instilled in them. Of course, this propaganda campaign will also be aimed at Armenians in Armenia who are thinking of emigrating.

At the moment, problems have become difficult everywhere, including the problems of Armenia, but the difference is that the problems of Armenia are our problems, and we can, by becoming participants and demonstrating sheer willpower, solve all the problems of our country. We cannot do the same by living on foreign lands, where we can only remain spectators with our hands tied behind our backs, watching while all these problems and dangers ruin our lives and society.

No matter how difficult and complicated the problems of our Fatherland seem, we have no other choice, but to solve and overcome them, because if we do not solve our problems, others will solve them for us in the way they see fit. It is time for us to stand up firmly on our land like our warrior ancestors did and not retreat, because retreating is not and cannot be in our Aryan essence. We must hold our ground with the same approach as the heroic resistance in the 4th century AD by the Arshakunis against the Sassanians in the Artagers fortress, where they were surrounded by enemies on all sides. An Armenian must stand firm on his land to preserve his statehood, just as a soldier stands firm in the trenches to hold his position. In short, the Fatherland is a position, and like a warrior, we should not leave our position and hand it over to someone else. Either Armenia will belong to Armenians, or it won't exist at all.

Realizing that the repatriation will not happen immediately, we will try to maintain as close ties as possible with the Diaspora Armenians and give various opportunities to those Diaspora Armenians who wish to support our Fatherland from abroad, even though they cannot move to Armenia at the moment. These opportunities will have both a financial and voluntary nature.

Of course, by spreading repatriation propaganda, we are obliged to work hard and build such a country that not only will Armenians living in Armenia not want to leave their Fatherland, but also Diaspora Armenians will want to return. By building a flourishing country, our compatriots will earnestly want to invest in Armenia without any need for persuasion. The realization will develop among them that being a citizen of Armenia will be considered an honor, because, as a great German leader once said: it is better to be a janitor in your country than to be king in foreign lands.

Our compatriots scattered in different corners of the world must leave modern Babylon, as our ancestors did five thousand years ago, and return to the Land of the AR-mans, a place where the Creator gave mankind a second chance.

Pillar 15

Foreign Diplomacy

We believe that a correct foreign diplomacy will automatically follow from a correct domestic policy, because one is a mirror of the other. In this world, and especially for our struggle, we certainly need allies whose interests really coincide with the interests of our Fatherland. That is the reason why we should conduct our foreign diplomacy with a completely new approach. a new approach that is appropriate for the new era. Our movement is not only a Pan-Armenian movement, but also a Pan-Aryan movement, the goal of which is to create a Pan-Aryan military-political alliance with other Aryan nations, while simultaneously strengthening our independence. We believe that a real and long-lasting alliance can be created only on the basis of common racial interests. Only by creating such an alliance can we successfully impede the Pan-Turkish and international Zionist global threat, which poses a great danger to the Armenian Nation and the entire Aryan race. However, with a sensible mind, we will conduct reasonable and flexible diplomacy, always thinking several steps ahead and doing all the calculations before acting.

By making the drastic, but necessary changes mentioned in this Manifesto to develop and strengthen our Fatherland, we understand that many hostile forces may oppose us, because the steps we will take will go completely against their anti-Armenian and anti-Aryan agenda. For that we will need allies who will have common enemies with us. Allies who are also against the international Zionist and Pan-Turkish agenda. Times are changing dramatically and we are seeing a rise in nationalism in Europe and other Aryan countries, because everyone's patience has run out, not just ours. We are not the only ones who do not want to sit quietly and watch our enemies steal our future and that of our children. For decades, the Aryan nations have seen how their societies have been corrupted and turned into a nightmare by the current anti-national system, which is currently hanging by a thread.

Therefore, we have been given a golden opportunity to create an alliance based on new principles for this upcoming new era, which will be in the interests of Aryanism in general.

The Armenian Highlands, being the cradle of Aryanism, are obliged to at least ideologically initiate and lead this military-political alliance which will include all Aryan nations that agree with our worldview and glorious vision. First of all, we should be able to include Iran in that alliance, because, comparatively speaking, at the moment there is no other country that is more against the goals of Pan-Turkism and Zionism than Iran, and our interests on these issues coincide to a great extent. This will be one of the best ways to prevent the complete Turkification of our Armenian highland.

In recent years, especially after the war, extreme anti-Russian sentiment has developed in our country, but our movement is not, in essence, anti-Russian, although it has already become clear to us that Russia's foreign policy has had a pro-Turkish and anti-Armenian stance since 1917, because that was the year when the Zionist supported anti-Armenian Bolsheviks usurped the Russian Empire by killing the Tsar and his entire family and exterminating millions of decent citizens. Russia became even more pro-Turkish in 1921, when the Lenin-Kemal Brotherhood alliance was signed by the Zionists, and until that alliance gets canceled, it will continue to remain in force and be a threat to Armenia. If a new kind of government comes to power in Russia and cancels that Zionist pact and wants to join the Pan-Aryan alliance and fight with us against Pan-Turkism and Zionism, we will gladly accept them, and we are sure that it will be in the interests of the Russian nation as well. Our goal should be to involve all Aryan countries in the Aryan military-political alliance.

All this does not mean that only the members of this military-political alliance can be our allies. There can and will be countries that will be our allies, but not members of that pan-Aryan union, just as there are countries today that are not members of NATO, but are allies of the United States. One of those countries will be India, with whom we can maintain very close military ties and carry out military exercises. The more International Zionism's death grip on independent states loosens, the easier it will be for us to expand that alliance to include all the Aryan nations. Only by being a member of such an alliance can the interests of Armenia and other Aryan countries be protected, and never by being a member of NATO or CSTO, which we are against in principle. With such an alliance, we will have peace, which will not be established at the expense of our defeat.

However, before starting such an initiative, we should first be able to stand up by finding strength within ourselves and then look for allies, not the other way around. However small our present resources are and however limited our possibilities may be, we cannot ask for external help or expect it unless we do something with whatever resources and strength we have. With our work and determined struggle, we should show that we are deserving of being allies. Anyone who doesn't make the effort to lift themselves up doesn't deserve the help of others.

Of course, the issue of genocide recognition will be on our agenda, but we will no longer beg for that recognition. The time has come for us to force this recognition on our enemies. Therefore, there can be no talk of opening a border with Turkey until we have the power to impose our will and have them recognize the genocide their government committed against our Nation in the first half of the twentieth century.

The infamous agreement of November 9, 2020 that was artificially and treacherously wrapped around the neck of our Nation by the November Criminals, will also be terminated at the right time. We must also understand that the Artsakh question as such is not independent from the Armenian question, and we should not separate them from each other. Because of our internal enemies and traitors, in 1994 a treacherous ceasefire was signed, as a result of which, instead of uniting Artsakh to the Republic of Armenia, Artsakh became an unrecognized independent state and we were taken to the swamp of compromise politics, so that the Republic of Artsakh would supposedly receive some form of status by the international community in exchange for regions of Artsakh, but in the end we did not receive any status and we lost our lands. In other words, they diverted us from the pro-Armenian solution from the very beginning and did not allow us to finish the unfinished business in the 90's by subjecting Azerbaijan to capitulation. After the 44-day conspiratorial war, we saw that the international community didn't care at all about our "bastion of democracy" and supported the tyrant of Baku and his terrorist state.

The phrase "Artsakh will never be a part of Azerbaijan" is illogical, weak and at the moment does not really say anything, because due to our lack of vigilance, our indifference, our negligence, and our stupidity, on November 9, 2020, with a stroke of a pen 75% of Artsakh was treacherously handed over to Azerbaijan, and the other 25% to Russia. In fact, it is not important that Artsakh is not part of Azerbaijan, because what's important for us is that Artsakh in its entirety unites with Mother Armenia, becoming a part of Armenia, whose security will be protected only by the Armed Forces of Armenia. Artsakh should be a part of Armenia and not a transit region or base for Azerbaijan, Russia or the West. That defeatist phrase was said so often for over 20 years that in the end, unfortunately, Artsakh became part of Azerbaijan almost entirely, because that phrase has only a defensive nature and a negative connotation. Therefore, it should be replaced by a more pro-Armenian, national and offensive expression: "Artsakh will only be part of Armenia and that's it." Only with this approach and this way of thinking can we have a victorious diplomacy.

When Leonid Azgaldyan said for Artsakh "this is Armenia and that's it", he didn't mean only 25% of Artsakh (in other words, Nagorno-Karabakh), but the whole of Artsakh with all its liberated territories. Nzhdeh did not say "Armenia not to the Turks", but with his Davitbekyan vows he resolutely shouted "Armenia for Armenians".

We cannot be naive anymore, and we are obliged to conduct a stronger diplomacy. No matter how important it is to have allies and create military-political alliances, we should only rely on ourselves and not detrimentally rely on any help which comes from outside our own Nation. We should strive to maintain good diplomatic relations with all friendly countries, but at the same time never compromising our sovereignty and independence.

However, our problem is much deeper than the Artsakh problem. The loss of Artsakh proved to us that our value system, way of thinking, psychology and will are completely distorted and corrupted. Until we fix them, we will have to wait for bigger losses in the future. Once they are corrected, not only will the Artsakh problem be finally solved in our favor, but also all other fundamental problems that threaten the existence of our Statehood.

We will use all old and new documents useful to Armenia in our foreign diplomatic relations, regardless of what other governments will think about them. If it is in the interests of the Armenian Statehood, then it will be used to our advantage on the negotiation table. Without a backbone, we cannot impose our will in international relations.

No one negotiates with a nation on its knees, no one supports a beggar, and no one will fight our battles for us. If we want to have allies, we must first strengthen ourselves, because in this world the weak have no friends. If we look for allies while on our knees, without presenting any strength, none of them will take us seriously and won't consider us as desirable allies: they will generally have a disrespectful attitude towards us. Therefore, our first step should be to restore our respect and honor at any cost.

We are not interested in any other solution, except that Armenia preserves its independence and strengthens our army. We must form a military-political team of Aryan ideological warriors, which will fight for the sake of the Nation and Fatherland, without becoming a puppet in the hands of any force, and will act exclusively for the interests of Armenia. We will never deviate from the Racialist vision that Armenia should belong only to Armenians, never to the enemies of civilization and mankind who thirst for Armenian blood.

We do not doubt the potential of our Nation. We believe that we can show other Aryan nations the importance and necessity of forming an alliance with us, and we will show the world that forming an alliance with Armenia means getting closer to security, justice and victory.

Hosank's Symbol and Flag

The symbol and flag of our Racialist movement, Hosank, is the Armenian eternity symbol, in gold and white on a dark red background, which symbolizes the unity of two opposing forces in the Universe with the swirls of the galaxy, without which there would be no creation in nature. The rotation of the eternity symbol also characterizes the Current (Hosank) itself, the eternal movement of the race. The dark red symbolizes the blood of the race, the link through which we can connect to the Creator and the eternal creative process. The purer blood of the race, the soul of the race will be more zealous and the connection to the Creator will be much stronger. In other words - we connect to eternity through our blood.

The eternity symbol has 8 wings – 4 gold, 4 white, because the number 8 is not only the number most used in Armenian culture, but also a number of great significance in mathematics and science. The number 8 in mathematics is the inverted eternity symbol (∞). We live in a four dimensional reality (space and time), but our reality consists of the "sis" (Micro) and "masis" (Macro) worlds, with the combination of both giving us an eighth dimensional reality.

In the color gold we see our Aryan cultural values, in the white - the national ideas and in the dark red - the blood shed for the existence and prosperity of our Fatherland. In the eternity symbol we see the victory of the eternal struggle for the development of our race. This corresponds perfectly with one of our main slogans: "Honor Your Culture, Love Your Nation, Defend Your Fatherland". Gold and dark red were also the colors of the flag of the Armenian Artaxiad dynasty, in particular, Tigran the Great, during whose rule Greater Armenia reached the peak of its power, which we will try to restore with our struggle. White was also in the flags of the Armenian Bagratuni dynasty and then of the Armenian Kingdom Cilicia, which restored our statehood by waging a national struggle against our enemies. Thus, with the combination of our former royal colors and our unconquerable national eternity symbol, we will bring back the honor and glory of our fatherland and state.

In coat of arms of "Hosank", the shield symbolizes the protection of our highest values: our nation, our fatherland and our independent statehood. The sword in front of the shield symbolizes peace which can only be brought upon with the defeat of our enemies and the victory of our armed forces, and the eagle sitting on top of the shield and sword while gazing his sights westwards (towards Ararat) symbolizes that in order for us to succeed in our struggle and achieve our goals, we must be brave, honest, strong, truthful, intelligent, just, loyal, farsighted, determined, persistent and wise like the eagle. The symbol is also an updated and modern version of the Mountainous Republic of Armenia, which was created in 1920 by Garegin Njhdeh and was also the first anti-Turkobshevik state in history.

In the written version our symbol, "HOSANK" is written in Armenian letters, with a golden lightning in the middle, and that lightning not only symbolizes electricity and current itself, but also the spark that brings light to humanity, which expresses the very purpose of Hosank. That lightning bolt also symbolizes victory, according to the German ideologue and mystic Guido von List, who called the old Norse "runes" the "Armanen" runes (i.e. the Armenian Runes), perhaps subconsciously feeling that these symbols had very ancient Armenian roots.

Every movement should not just use names, symbols and flags without any reason or meaning, as almost all political parties and movements are doing now. Meaningless symbols will lead to meaningless movements, and meaningful symbols will lead to meaningful movements. The current flag, in short, is the flag of the future victorious Aryan-Armenian State.

Nzhdeh once said: "Unconquerable is the flag that is raised for the race and is in the name of the race", and we are sure that it was the Hosank flag that he was talking about.

Afterword

Right now, as you are reading this, our enemies are working day and night in an organized way to wipe us off the face of the Earth. That is why many will think that it is pointless to sit down and write, read and spread a manifesto now. They will say that "there is no time for this" and we should take more "drastic steps", while the years pass and they do not take any drastic steps and do nothing. Their egos distort their vision. This short-sightedness and impatience is a very destructive phenomenon that we must eradicate if we want to have a healthy and successful political struggle. Without farsightedness and determination, our politics will continue to remain at a pathetic and degenerate level, which is exactly what the enemy wants. Our enemies, in addition to being far-sighted and determined, are also very organized, and we can only defeat such an enemy if we are also far-sighted, determined and organized. We need to be ideologically on the same platform in order to organize, and this Manifesto should serve that purpose. We have to work as one organism, one body in order to move forward.

However, this Manifesto is not a limited dogmatic text, because the search for the truth has no end, so we must always keep our minds open. In any case, we are sure that the ideas written in this Manifesto are the fundamental truths with which we will build our political movement and our dream State. This Manifesto is not a wall that will keep us in a mental prison, but a door that will open for us the path of prosperity and victory.

What we need to do is quite simple, not complicated, but at the same time, it is very difficult, so we should not waste time debating possibilities. We should get to work at once, and by working patiently, reap the fruits of our labor ten, twenty or even after fifty years. Those fruits may be only be reaped by our future generations, but that should not discourage us, on the contrary, it should motivate us, because we are evidently fighting for the future of our Nation.

You do not have to agree with every sentence in this Manifesto. That will be impossible. Even two close friends can never agree on everything. It is normal and reasonable that there are differences in some details, but we believe that every Armenian that genuinely cares about our Nation will agree with the general ideas. Not wanting to join Hosank just because you disagree with a few sentences is just a sign of ignorance and selfishness.

Many ideas and goals were mentioned in this Manifesto, but let's not forget that our ultimate goal is to guarantee the survival and progress of our Nation, and to strengthen the security and empowerment of our Fatherland. We can only achieve this together, step by step, with steadfast and consistent hard work. Let us not forget, that drops of water can eventually pierce through rock. We also understand that many of the ideas mentioned in this Manifesto cannot be implemented at once, and changes will be made over generations. In any case, what we want in the future should be as clear as water in our minds, but we should live and act in the present moment and consider every small victory as progress in achieving our goal, because a big victory consists of small victories.

Some of our compatriots will say in a negative way that our ideas are "fascistic" or "Nazist", but for such people the truth is not important at all, and they repeat these words without thinking, because they are under the influence of enemy propaganda. We will also hear that our ideas are "extreme", but we believe that what is actually extreme is our current situation, and the solutions we propose are the way out of this extreme situation. They do not understand that in order to get out of this extreme situation, we have to resort to extraordinary and revolutionary solutions. We cannot say and do something to please everyone, therefore we should not go down that road. Our goal is to preach the truth, and the one who wants to please everyone with lies ends up being hated by everyone. The misconceptions and views of the present time should not determine what ideas we should preach and what kind of work we should do: loyalty to the ultimate truth should dictate our actions.

We have long understood that we cannot cure the ills of our society with ballots, reforms, or conservative measures that merely maintain the current chaotic status quo. Only a revolution of consciousness based on racial values can get us back on our feet, because we consider racial values to be the greatest means of strengthening national self-awareness.

Extreme times call for radical measures, and our fundamental ideas and principles cannot be compromised. Times are changing dramatically, and we see everywhere that all the world's superpowers are weakening, destabilizing the social and economic systems with them. All around us, we see that all the current systems will collapse under the weight of their own lies, which will open a window of new opportunities for us. For this coming new era, we need to have a manifesto comprised of new revolutionary ideas, with which we can build a new world on the ashes of the old world. In order to see those revolutionary changes, first we ourselves must become that change together. From this point on, we must make a clear decision and stand on the right side of history, giving Racialism a new birth for the new millennium.

These ideas of ours have either been taken consciously from different places, or some parts of them have been Armenianized, or completely new ideas have been added, which exclusively derive from our vision and spiritual worldview, but under no circumstance did we directly copy any ideas, because we do not blindly follow any ideology. We want to be as transparent as possible with our ideas, so that without any confusion, we can recruit conscious, dedicated and decent people in our struggle. If we don't write and say our ideas in plain language, how will we be able to recruit the kind of people we want? How will we fight to the death on the political arena and on the battlefield, if we do not clearly state the goal we are fighting for? We cannot deny the fact that the written word, as well as the spoken word, have great power, therefore our goals and ultimate dream must be clearly written down and clearly stated. Through the written and spoken words and focused work, our dream will be manifested into reality.

Our struggle will seem scary to many, especially to weak hearted cowards who have lived in their comfort zone for years. That's why we need courage right now more than ever, because courage is not the act of avoiding fear, but acting and fighting regardless of that fear. We must act, because as a great American once said: no loss from the consequence of acting is greater than the loss from failing to act.

There are two types of people in this life: the first sees the present world as a dark place through which no light can shine, and the second sees the present world as a dark place through which the light can much more easily shine and light up the darkness. We are interested in the second type, the optimistic individuals who will light a little candle instead of complaining about the darkness.

Many will consider us "right-wing", but we reject such labels: we are neither "right-wing", nor "left-wing", nor a mixture of the two, so called "centrist". We reject this artificial spectrum created by our enemies, because our worldview is not even on the current political spectrum. Ours, so to speak, belongs to the "third path" or "third position".

We take nationalism from the right, but not capitalism, we take socialism from the left, but not internationalism, we take the right to bear arms from the right, we accept animal rights from the left, etc. It is this "third position" that can actually bring positive changes for our Fatherland.

We do not hide our desire of coming to power, but our struggle is not just for that purpose, as we see with almost all other political movements. In general, we cannot believe any politician or movement whose only ideology is a regime change and whose only goal is to come to power. Our Movement is as immortal as our ideas and symbols, and in this struggle bearing such ideas and an unconquerable flag, we have set our eyes not on the next year, the next election, or even the next decade, but on eternity.

This pivotal struggle has only two possible outcomes: either our enemies will walk over our bodies or we will walk over theirs. History will repeat itself: Vahagn will slay the serpent, Hayk will defeat Bel. Instead of turning the last page of our history, it is time we open a new page with golden letters by once again undertaking the role of the leading Nation for Aryanism and righteousness. Our struggle must be victorious if we want our race to not lose its place under the Sun.

All this should be taken into account in all our negotiations and decisions. All our culture, science, thoughts, actions and steps should serve the purpose of strengthening the race; this is the command of the new era. All these are prerequisites and necessary steps to creating a healthy and progressive society: a society that will consist of dignified citizens who bear personal responsibility, recognize their duties, are hardworking, honest, healthy and pureblooded. We must create a completely new man, a new state, a new society, a new civilization, and we must sow the seeds of that glorious future right now, and water those seeds day by day with our struggle.

The time will come in Armenia when we will no longer be proud of only our past. The time will come when we will really start being proud of the present as well, because with our labor, our struggle, and our sacrifices, we will create a State and country worthy of such pride.

We believe that Armenia will be central in the revival of civilization and the salvation of humanity. We believe that Armenia will once again become an important junction of the civilizational crossroads connecting the West and the East, the North and the South. We believe that Armenia will become one of the most powerful countries not only of this region, but also in the whole world, with which everyone will have to take into account. From Armenia, we can light a match in this darkness, starting the spark of the coming Aryan millennium, which will spread like wildfire to other Aryan nations. We believe in this historical sacred mission given to us by the Creator of the Universe.

In reality, Hosank represents a very dangerous idea for globalization and modern Babylon: a truly free and independent Armenia. We cannot give up on that idea, no matter how many obstacles are thrown in front of us. We must be spiritually prepared to crush all of them one by one and to neutralize all the attacks directed against us. Our goal is great and our challenges are countless, because we must do the impossible and in order to do that we have to use the most powerful weapons in our arsenal: loyalty, determination, courage, dedication, hard work and perseverance, but if those weapons do not suffice, we will compensate with willpower.

However unimaginable it may seem now to realize this dream, nevertheless, all this should be our main vision and supreme goal, from which we have no right to deviate, because our purpose is the Creator's purpose and our struggle is the struggle to fulfill the will of the Creator.

About the Founder and Leader of Hosank

Hayk Nazaryan was born on May 12, 1989 in California, USA. He is the youngest of four children in the family. In 2015, he received a master's degree in physics from California State University and taught there for three years. Always feeling deep in his heart that America aka modern Babylon is not his country and inspired by the April Four Day War, in November 2016 he decided to leave the States with a one-way ticket for permanent residence in the Fatherland. In order to gain military experience, he served on a contract basis in the front-line positions of Tavush. As a volunteer he participated from beginning to the end during the 44-day war in the Martakert region of Artsakh.

He has maintained the integrity of his worldview for more than 20 years, and being faithful to his ideas and the truth, he never became a member of any political party. He never changed political camps and did not flatter anyone to advance his political career. Furious at the traitors and internal enemies operating in Armenia and disappointed by the senseless and meaningless political upheavals. He returned from the frontlines and decided to found Hosank in 2021, the only Racist political movement in Armenia, which revives Nzdeh's Racist ideas and brings them to the political arena in the 21st century.

Hosank is based solely on Armenian Aryan ideas and is not supported or funded by any cult, foreign agency, or oligarch. With modest and limited resources, it aims to become a serious political movement in Armenia. By establishing order in this chaotic situation, the objective is a current of unity for the long divided Armenian Nation. Only in this way can we put Armenian nationalists, especially the youth, on the same ideological platform, uniting them under the banner of eternity, so that together as one body, shoulder to shoulder, we can move forward and realize our dream.

Hosank, with the blessing of Nzhdeh's spirit, strives to turn Racialism into a fighting movement and gain power in order to build a Racialist State based on Aryan ideas, which is the only way to have a flourishing economy, a prosperous society, and a victorious army. We are sure of our victory because there is no force more powerful in this world than an idea whose time has come.
